TOWN TOPICS, Born March 15, 1946, Marks Its 25th Birthday

"Volume 1, Number 1," the small boldface caption said, under the heading "Topics of the Town." By way of self-introduction, this greeting followed:

"Early this morning, mail carriers responsible for the daily deliveries along the 13 routes in Princeton Borough and Township undertook for the first time distribution of TOWN TOPICS, a new Princeton publication. Today and each Friday hereafter, it will reach every home and place of business in the community. Its news, features and editorial comment, together with the messages of Princeton business and professional interests, will be made available each week without charge to some 12,000 Princetonians."

On such a basis, it was pointed out "TOWN TOPICS will serve as the first means of communication with all of Princeton. In this capacity, we hope that it may, by pointing out trends and correlating opinion, have a beneficial effect upon the town in which all of us take pride and pleasure in living."

The day was March 15, 1946, and the leaves that have since then drifted off the calendar testify indisputably to the fact that this week, TOWN TOPICS is 25 years old. The opportunity to take a nostalgic look at the early spring of that bygone year is irresistible. If that was one that held bright

WE NOMINATE

Sixteen hundred and twenty-five Princetonians gave of themselves in World War II, as this nation and its Allies fought to substitute a reign of law for a reign of war. From August 7, 1942, when the First Marines rode landing craft onto the sloping beaches of Guadalcanal, until the Atomic Age was born in flames over Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Princeton citizens in the Armed Forces helped write chapter after chapter of the ever-widening offensives that reduced the enemy to helplessness. North Africa, Sicily, Italy, New Guinea, the Pacific's barren atolls, the beaches of Normandy, Southern France, the Philippines, the Rhine, Okinawa: in all parts of the world Princetonians fought. Thirty-eight of them died. In all humility, knowing full well that intimate griefs cannot be shared, the community feels a common loss and a continuing common pride in the bravery and sacrifice of those who gave their lives.

On the 1,587 residents of the Borough and Township — who have come back to the ways of peace with grim memories of the ways of war — falls the burden of helping provide the community leadership needed in meeting the challenges of peace. That former servicemen and servicewomen are making places for themselves in the peacetime sun is reflected by the growing number of veterans engaged in the town's business enterprises, in its political life, in its service organizations. With the Home Front of World War II, without which there could have been no final victory, Princeton's veterans are bridging the gap between reconversion and the normalcy of a world at peace — in spite of international bad tempers, dismaying uncertainty in national affairs, housing shortages and rising prices.

For their sacrifices in the past, for their courage and vigor in adjusting to the present, for their determination to keep faith with the ideals which they have served so long and so well, we in this first issue of TOWN TOPICS name them promises of a world forever in peace that have long since been rudely shattered, no matter the memories of a smaller, sometimes very somnolent Princeton are well worth a flashback journey afforded by the pages of Volume One, Number One, and its immediate successors.

Princeton in 1946? Population barely 12,000, less than half of today's. . . . Angie parking on the north side of Nassau. . . . stretch your supply of nuthackie with an automatic heat regulator. . . . advised the J.W. Miller Coal Company. . . . "Radio and television when available," promised The Music Shop, whose latest album was "My Country at War," a three-disc, 12-inch set.

Peace was only seven months old and the war was still a close part of people's lives.

TOWN TOPICS first "We Nominat" were the 1,625 residents of Princeton who went off to war. . . . and the 1,397 who came back.

In Europe, starvation and nakedness were the way of life in that first post war winter, and Princeton responded to the need. "Your outgrown, out-moded clothing is wanted for Dutch families," read one classified ad. "Warmth and durability more important than style, American Relief for Holland."

War relief of all kinds was funneled through "The Center" at 116-118 Nassau (where Woolworth's now is), manned by a group of volunteers led by Mrs. Gordon Hall.

A Democratic Mayor, The preceding fall, Princeton's traditional Republicanism had been shaken loose by a surprising Democratic victory and a vigorous young Democrat named Minot C. Morgan Jr. sat in Thomson Hall (the old Borough Hall) in the mayor's chair.

"With a blast at the Federal government for its lack of courage in failing to ration fats and grains," reported TOWN TOPICS, Mayor Morgan set "breadlines and fry-pan" days for Princeton.

Borough Council passed resolution asking consumers for all-out support. Rotary Club members approached hotel, restaurant, and bakery.

Public eating places were asked not to serve bread from Sunday noon through the end of the day on Wednesday. Bread was not to be sold at all on Thursdays in the markets, and citizens and restaurants were asked not to use cooking fats on Wednesdays "to aid starving Europe."

The drive went well. TOWN TOPICS reported later, "It will have the double effect of giving Princetonians an easier conscience and Europe a fewer less hunger pangs."

Mrs. FDR was Here. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt came to Princeton to address the Princeton Committee for Emergency Food Collection. You took your donations of canned food to a depot set up at the Community Service Center, 130 Nassau (where the new Princeton Savings and Loan building now stands). That's where veterans went any Thursday for information on the GI bill.

The Purple Heart Concert scheduled for May 18 at McCarter was postponed because of the transportation crisis caused by the coal strike. And the Princeton chapter of the American Veterans Committee found, in a survey, that four out of five Princetonians wanted continuation of OPA price controls for another year.

No, the transition to peacetime ways wasn't all beer and skittles. In fact, it wasn't beer at all, a lot of the time. "When current shortages in beers and whiskies make shopping a problem," began one ad for Wine and Game, a brand new store in town.

Another Wine and Game ad: "Good gin is hard to get; it may become even scarcer. . . . We can sell it to you by the can!"

Permit for a Pool. As things began to ease, the government lifted its ban on non-essential building, and one of the first permits went to Mrs. Edgar Palmer, One Bayard Lane, for a swimming pool.

Housing and traffic, not enough of one and too much of another — it was the same story for Princeton 25 years ago. Veterans were having such trouble finding a place to live that members of Post 76, American Legion, made a house-to-house canvass of the entire Princeton community hunting for rooms which might be rented to veterans and their families.

Rumors about a $1,000,000 housing project on Bayard

Lane persisted during late winter, and finally it was announced that the New York Life Insurance Company had bought the old Sloan estate, including its 89-year-old stone house called "Stanworth," and planned to raze the house and build garden apartments.

Demolition of the house began in the spring of '46 and the first "Stanworth" tenants moved in less than a year later.

Homes for Veterans. Meanwhile, the Township re-zoned some land to make room for 250 temporary housing units for the married veteran students who were flocking to Princeton University. The site was the Devereux Memorial Polo Field. These "temporary" units in 1971 could well be housing University students whose parents once lived in the same apartment.

A survey in the area encompassed by John Street and Witherspoon Street found that over half the residents "are hopeful of new living quarters." TOWN TOPICS reported. Of the 205 who want a new place to live, 124 wanted to rent and 81 to build.

Rent? Well, $27 a month was regarded as a feasible average rental. People who were thinking about building figured that $4,000 to $6,000 would be about right.

Those were halcyon days in Princeton's housing market. One real estate agent advised a brick Colonial with three bedrooms, two baths, a large lot and "the garden of your dreams" for $25,500. For $20,000 you could buy a house on The Great Road with two acres, eight rooms and two baths.

Building Room Starts. Borough Building permits for the first quarter of 1946 were "the highest in a decade," at $1,768,000. But $318,000 of that was "Stanwix."

And the traffic! That 35-degree angle parking cost one space every eight, but it did make it easier to move in and out of a parking space.

The Lions Club heard a speaker who explained the value of those things called parking spaces. In 1970 the Borough collected $149,310 from 1,022 meters.

Residents of Mercer, Hibernia, Edgemoor and Springdale petitioned Borough Council to reduce the speed limit on Mercer as a safety precaution for children in the neighborhood.

Residents of Hank Street petitioned for a fire hydrant, and asked to have their dead-end street opened up at the north either to Bayard Lane or to Hurlish.

Mayor Morgan was incensed about the traffic that would pour into Princeton for the University's first post-war Reunion weekend in June, 1946. Pre-war reunions had brought out some 3,500 alumni. This one was expected to produce 12,000 men coming back to Old Nassau. (The beer shortage was the chief problem plaguing class organizers.)

As a solution, the mayor proposed a series of temporary parking yards on the outskirts of town, with bus transportation to the center of Princeton.

Mr. Morgan tried again for the mayor's job and that was one of his platform planks. Today, in 1971, the peripheral parking idea is still talked about, but it now bears the name of Mr. Morgan's fellow Democrat, Councilman Alice Malec.

Incidentally, Mr. Morgan just can't seem to keep out of the news. As business manager of the Institute for Advanced Study, the former mayor has led the Institute's current fight for the Weller Text; as chairman of the Regional Planning Association, he will head this Saturday's conference on traffic in Princeton and possible solutions.

Consolidate! With the war over and a new life beginning the spring of 1946 seemed like a good time to talk about consolidating Borough and Township into a single Princeton.

"The proposal has never before been publicly debated," declared TOWN TOPICS just before a League of Women Voters meeting at "the Elenetary School." (Everybody knew where that was: it was the Borough's big stone schoolhouse on Nassau, now a University graphic arts center.)

Speakers were Charles R. Erdman Jr., five-time Borough mayor just before Mr. Morgan; William Miller, who is now attorney for the Regional Planning Board; and Russell V.N. Black, who had written a master plan for the Borough. John F. Siv was chairman.

TOWN TOPICS polled the 250 who went to that meeting: only 18% were opposed to consolidation. In the Borough, 88% wanted merger; in the Township 49%.

More than half thought that consolidation would come with in the next decade. Demographic note: although the Borough outnumbered the Township by about two-to-one in population, the audience was 98-50.

Overwhelming approval (91%) was given to a joint planning board. That board had a long gestation period — it wasn't born until January, 1970.

Let's Go to the Movies. Daily life, 25 years ago, wasn't much different. The week TOWN TOPICS distributed Volume I, Number 1, you could go to the Playhouse to see Judy Garland in "The Harvey Girls" and a few days later, Clark Gable in "Destiny." Television was still "not available."

Sam and Bella Spewack had a new comedy they were trying out, live, at McCarter. It was "Woman Bites Dog," and tickets were $1.20 to a top of $3. The young ladies at Miss Fine's School were presenting Miss Edna Austen's "Pride and Prejudice."

Community Players bought "Avalon." Henry Van Dyke's stately old mansion (The YM-YWCA is on the site now) and remodeled it to contain a small theatre. Apartments for veterans were on the upper floors. The Players estimated they might need as much as $20,000 for the purchase so they floated 3% debenture bonds and supplemented those proceeds with income from a production of "The Devil's Disciple."

A Little Poliocking. Heady with the fall's success, Democrats held a spring dinner at Anthony Mini's Bar and Grill on Lytle Street for American veterans of Italian descent.

The mayor spoke, and so did Councilmen Michael C. Kopliner and Joseph J. Reading, and the president of the Democratic Club, a man named Edward A. Thorne who owned a drug store, ROYAL TOPICS comment: "Note to the local C.O.P.: it is later than you think!"

What to Buy. Shoppers found ladies' short coats "equally desirable" at a spring dinner at Anthony Mini's Bar and Grill on Lytle Street for American veterans of Italian descent. The mayor spoke, and so did Councilmen Michael C. Kopliner and Joseph J. Reading, and the president of the Democratic Club, a man named Edward A. Thorne who owned a drug store, ROYAL TOPICS comment: "Note to the local C.O.P.: it is later than you think!"

And The Music Shop was absorbed into the University Store, and the owner of the Wilcox Pharmacy sold the shop and became affiliated with March & Co., and Charles E. Saillier's liquor store is now The Cellar. In 1946, the name was Silatoff's Silver Shop.

Renwick's which closed its doors for the last time New Year's Eve 1969, invited 1946 customers to celebrate spring in Princeton with "a stop at our soda fountain for a frosted drink."

One store, innocent of the years to come, advertised "Insecticides, Fungicides and DDT."

There was an outfit called Western Union, too, and in TOWN TOPICS' first issues, its manager was advertising for "messenger boys with bicycles."

"Number, Please." Following an odd system — or so it seems today — telephone subscribers had telephone numbers that were simply digits, climbing right up the scale from Number One. It was, of course, long before dialing.

Cousins telephone number was 1. The G.R. Murray Real Estate Agency had both 3 and 4. Mrs. Allan Marquand of "Guernsey Hall" had 7. The Fire Chief was Number 8, and Walter B. Howe had 9.

Sounds strange today. But many things in 1946 sound quite familiar: the Bryn Mawr Book Sale was coming, and the club was asking for books. The University was moving Joseph Henry House, as it was to move the Woodrow Wilson School in later years.

A bowl of protest from what TOWN TOPICS called "garden clubbers" blocked construction of a dairy research lab in Lawrence Township.

The Borough heard a debate over where to build the new $63,500 firehouse for Engine Company Number One. It was proposed for the south corner of Chestnut and Hamilton, but the firemen wanted a new building to go up — as indeed it did — on the site of the old one, right there on Chestnut near Nassau. The furor simmered down because of the scarcity of building materials, especially brick. The town still making its mark on life, in the Princeton of 25 years

Foot on "Gas" Instead of Brakes May Be Reason For Accident in Which Two Women Were Killed

Two young women were killed instantly at 6:25 Monday evening when their station wagon was rammed by the Penn Central "Dinky" at the Faculty Road crossing.

Township police identified the victims as Miss Irene F. Collins, 25, the driver, a native of Liverpool, England, and Miss Catherine C. Lennox, 24, who was born in Glasgow, Scotland. Both lived at 181 Harrison Street and were employees of Good Time Charley's restaurant in Kingston.

The impact tore open the side of their 1960 car and dragged it 607 feet before the two-car shuttle came to a stop. Both were pronounced dead at the Kimble Funeral Home by Dr. David L. Fluck, Mercer County pathologist. After performing an autopsy, he attributed death to skull fractures and internal injuries.

It took members of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, using power winches, an hour and a half to free the bodies. Said one Township policeman, "They were jammed so close together that it looked like one body with two heads."

Ptl. Howard Sweeney is conducting the investigation for

The Township in conjunction with Det. Anthony Nini, the traffic safety officer. They are being assisted by Charles Clowes and Charles Scarlata of the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office.

According to a spokesman for Penn Central, the headlight of the dinky was bright, its whistle was blowing and the crossing lights were flashing at the time of the accident. He said he was quoting the train engineer, Cornelius Ker-learn what a car looks like after it has been dragged 600 feet following collision with a train.

The station wagon, which remained wedged under the front of the Dinky the entire 600 feet, was owned by Thomas Hunt of Jamesburg, another employee of the restaurant from whom the women had borrowed his car. They were reportedly on their way to see the Al-Frazier fight in a Trenton theatre.

No more trains traversed the two and a half mile shuttle between the Borough and Princeton Junction until the next day. During the investigation, police did not conclude their initial one until 12:45 a.m.—a bus service was set up to transport passengers.

Lived here Six Years. The daughter of Wilson and Annie C. Lennox, Miss Lennox had been a resident of Princeton for six years. Before becoming a waitress at Good Time Charley's, she had worked for several years as a sales clerk at Zinder's, 102 Nassau. A sister, Sadie, lives in New York.

bec, and eyewitnesses. "Everything was working fine," he said.

Car Lurched Ahead. The station wagon was coming up Faculty Road toward Alexander Street. The railroad spokesman said that it approached the crossing slowly—no more than two or three miles an hour—when suddenly it lurched ahead into the path of the train. There are no crossing gates at the site. (Faculty is a private road owned by Princeton University.)

He conjectured that Miss Collins apparently had attempted to brake and hit the accelerator instead. He denied an earlier published account of the accident which said that the brakes of the two-car train had failed.

"In any type of accident like this, whenever the air line may be ruptured, the brakes are automatically activated," he said. The sheer weight of the train, plus the fact that the rails were on a slight downgrade at that point, prevented the train from stopping sooner, he continued. "Six hundred feet in an accident of this type isn't unusual."

Statement issued. William J. Shields, assistant superintendent, passenger, for Penn Central, issued the following statement Tuesday afternoon:

"The multiple-unit cars on the branch which struck the automobile at the Faculty Road crossing were functioning properly in every respect before the collision. The cars were in use on the line throughout the day and the crews took no exception to their operation."

"Brakes functioned properly on every run. The collision, however, did damage the braking mechanism and other parts of the cars, rendering them inoperable."

There were seven passengers on the train at the time. The conductor, Robert Beaton, and the trainmen, Anthony Panto, are, like the engineer, residents of Trenton. All three made statements to Township police on Tuesday.

The accident was reported by Surgit Bhalla, 23, a graduate student in a car traveling behind the station wagon. From a nearby service station, he telephoned Borough police who in turn notified the Township.

Mooney's Been There 25 Years

"A certain young fellow" named Robert F. Mooney was honored by Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Council Tuesday night for 25 years of service to the Borough.

Mr. Mooney signed on in March, 1946. He was appointed Deputy Borough Clerk in December, 1947 and the next month, on the death of Edgar Warren, became clerk. He was made Administrator in 1962.

Mayor and Council gave him a suitcase (he's just returned from vacation) and Police Chief Peter J. McGrohan made the presentation, embellishing it with a sort of poem he wrote himself.

"It's the most interesting job around," Mr. Mooney said. "and I've enjoyed every minute."

The Administrator is a graduate of St. Paul's School, and of Princeton High School with the class of '39. He was a telegrapher with Western Union and delivery manager there until the war.

Then he joined the Navy, and spent over three years in Naval Communications.

including more than two years on Bora Bora, a refueling station near Tahiti.

A renowned golfer (that was a golfing vacation he just had), Mr. Mooney is also an eminent fireman. He served as Princeton's Fire Chief in 1964, and was president of Mercer Engine Number 3 in 1969-70.

It was Mayor Cawley who called him "a certain young fellow." It's part of Mr. Mooney's job to break in the mayors as they come along.

Bullins and Beckett Are Back to Back

The quiet and purposeful evolution of a black communal theatre in Princeton has occurred, the gift of the Hairy Jerry Arts Workshop under the direction of Donald Evans. The current production of Ed Bullins' "In the Wine Time," repeated next weekend at the Youth Center, arrives logical and intentionally, bringing to our senses the brink and movement of a black world that is now.

Brilliantly linguistic and acutely assaulting, this play is given as it must be, by persons who move naturally with in voices and characters, flowing just as naturally as the compressed and fermented wine of life time flows.

"ENDGAME" Actors from Theatre Intime rehearse Samuel Beckett's "Endgame." Clow is played by Ernest Norris, the blind hunch by Richard Ferragio. Sallie Brophy is the director. (R. Bruce Beckner Photo.)

This flowing is central to his play, and to its aesthetic. Bullins is a gifted workman; his play is less situational than it is poetic, focussing on the instant of speech rather than the instant, into three centuries.

This is less the personal tragedy of men caught by circumstance than it is the perpetual tragedy of men caught in the swirlings of time. The cheap wine, the dirty gratulations, everything lends shape to the complexity.

Second, Bullins knows how people talk. Bullins, a real black street people speak their anguish with violence and vehemence; it is enviable in its authenticity, for Bullins has affirmed its connections to the life that moves in the street.

Third, this street drama knows its land: the street that passes through some of our lives passes also into us, becomes us, makes us who we must be. Finally, it is a poem. This artist's vision makes the senses work. It is a sensual, sexual, complete vision, an attempt, through Bullins' eyes, to make the instants permanent: photographs from a park car.

The play is beautifully staged and sensitively played without compromising the ugliness, the evilness of the poem. This play reminds us why streets have gutters.

I note especially the interplay of Lenora Alexander Chambers, Yao Yajajuu, and T. Richard Cunningham. Their work, the coherence of language and desperation, and especially the excellence of Mr. Cunningham, bring all of this play together, giving it an organic quality which could have eluded Bullins' form.

Mr. Evans' uses of Ted Woods' fine set are thoughtful and essential, a street choreostreet, the fevered instants, the foul words flow. Caught beneath this motion, a man fights to see the surface, to have a vision of himself, a freeze within the flow, a life, a name.

It is the permanence and inevitability of this flowing, the assimilation of growth and life and character through language that makes this drama the most deeply natural and aesthetically satisfying contemporary work I've seen.

First, it is a beautifully wrought, beautifully organized play: we are struck by the complexities not of acting, but of living, staying alive. No thing is wasted, nothing is grapy, a ritual dance around words. Because he has done his job so well, every witness must deal with what he sees.

The authenticity of Mr. Bullins' play reminds one of America's fear of the truth; we do not speak it to ourselves — strangers or brothers — often enough to know it. Too often we tremble to say what is on our minds or in our lives. Bullins doesn't.

The Hansberry Arts Workshop has arrived defining itself and black theatre, a clear self-definition that is a gift and a necessity to black people and whites, in this moving exploration and artful, genuine vision of people trapped forever in a world of now.

ENDGAME

At Theatre Intime. Shifting one's perceptions from Ed Bullins to Samuel Beckett is more than a shift from the visceral to the cerebral. There are other ways to describe the shift: from the momentary to the eternal; from the visible to the invisible; from the seeing to the vacant; from the necessary to the impossible. This is of course only in the critic's mind: initially, it's a long way for him from Bullins to Beckett, but the trip must be made. It is an impossible play made possible by superb stagecraft and brilliant acting. "Endgame" at Theatre Intime, March 11, 12, and 13.

Were we to go about defining which imaginary construction can be made vital on stage, and which cannot, the bony language and dreamless, contradictory barbarity of "Endgame" would seemingly be consigned to the latter. But these four actors meet the language with such control and power that the characters — hunch, glow, haze, hell — are turned from carved mechanicals to fond remnants from a world of rationality. This play is so odd and so brilliant! It is to be internalized, not by meanings (To mean anything is impossible.) but by the feelings one has, knowing that "something is taking its course" as it always is. The most consciousness of us will feel perfectly familiar with what happens in "Endgame": the same questions and the same answers over and over and over.

Impossible, yes, and indescribable. This play can be compared to both a vacant stage and "King Lear," so a comparison is meaningless. Its enigmas are perpetual, its vision is deeply human. It is disconcerting, spellbinding, boring, funny, absurd, blind, frustrating, and intimately connected with death. But it lives: "The end is in the beginning and yet you go on."

There is very little to feel affection for in this production, but there is everything to admire. Beckett is the dollmaker; he makes the dolls and gives them words. But the dolls have independent voices. Carmen Apicgren, Daniel Haughey, Ernest Norris, and — Continued on Next Page

Richard Ferrigno, with a strong grasp upon how to say what Beckett tells them. Their resources are explored deeply, especially in the work of Mr. Norris (who is most excellent) and Mr. Ferrigno (who is just excellent). Their gifts belie the apparent poverty of Mr. Beckett's figures. All four actors, alive in a madman's toyshop, develop apparent concepts of vestigial personality, will, volition, destiny without escape, remembrance, and sustaining life in contradistinction to their cell. This production is indeed a work of art, with all the implications of labor applicable to a demanding physical job.

Sally Brophy, whose director of Pinter's "The Homecoming" last summer was in intelligent and communicative, accomplishes the same vital humanity here. It would think, be an easy and faulted assumption to allow Beckett's bleak emotional walls to overwhelm these actors in the name of absurdity.

I think it is a mark of Miss Brophy's intellectual standards and directorial strength that we can never lose the implicit understanding that absurdity is an intensely human and humanistic situation, and more a part of what we live than we wish to know.

John Coventry has lighted and designed this stage with a specific intelligence that could also have dwindled in to blankness, but he too has shown regard for Beckett's world as a space which cannot lose its human connections.

"We are rarely given so many excellences. Though a deep by negative passage (from Bolins to Beckett) there are human connections to be made) it cannot have too many travelers, or too many witnesses."

NORDICRAFT OPENS

At Princeton Plaza, Nordcraft is a bright, fresh little shop in the Princeton Plaza, the small shop center on Nassau Street just beyond Harrison. Last Saturday was a very busy opening day.

Five Scandinavian women, one from Denmark, one from Norway and three from Sweden, have brought together an charming embroideries and a rya, imported wools, hand-crafted scones and other items in a shop that is a browser's delight.

The springboard for Nordcraft seems to be the YWCA International Festival, which has drawn upon the talents of all for a number of years.

Anne Marie Woodrow, a native of Upsala, Sweden, was chairman of the Festival in 1968. She studied fashion design at the Academy of Design and at the Institute of Merchandising in Stockholm before coming to this country for further training. She is married to Peter Woodrow, consultant with Aeronautical Research Associates of Princeton.

Berit Marshall, also from Sweden, has lived in and around Princeton for the past 15 years, holding strong support to the YWCA Festival, particularly in the Scandinavian gift section. She's the wife of Professor Thomas G. Marshall of Rutgers.

Knit 'n' Stitch. The very exciting knitting samples you'll see at Nordcraft are by Eldrid Midtun, who first came here from Norway as an exchange student at Princeton High School. Be sure to see the knitted pouch bag she is developing as a sample for kits.

Mrs. Midtun dips into designs from the knitting books with carefree imagination. Ask to leaf through the many Scandinavian knitting patterns. Choose the Norwegian wool for the spot for your spring intemper knitting project.

Mrs. Midtun has exhibited and sold through the Peace Gallery on Nassau Street and the Cricket Cage in Hopewell. She's in charge of the Melting Pot at the YWCA and somehow has found time to give talks on rya rug making and the making of wool ornaments for Christmas.

Annelle Plehn, born in Denmark, has won prizes for her embroidery at the annual national exhibition at Woodland Plantations, Va. She has exhibited and sold finished embroideries through the stores here and in New York. A skilled needlewoman she may be, but Mrs. Plehn is a hanker by training. The partners have therefore placed her in charge of the bookkeeping. For those who love to embroider, Mrs. Plehn has a number of Danish and Swedish designs to browse through and order.

Make A Rug. Elsa Granade is a member of the Princeton Weaver's Guild. A native of Sweden, she will teach rya knitting (she showed us how in exactly three minutes, it's so simple). A Princeton resident for a dozen years, Mrs. Granade is yet another product of the YWCA festival and she has also given rya demonstrations at the Y's Melting Pot. She is planning to teach at Nordcraft one Saturday morning a month.

Nordcraft has on its wall a small sample of rya, an elegant little white rug with blues and yellow seemingly framed on an abstract way. There's a book full of patterns to inspire you.

As we looked at this sunny shop with its handwoven mohair, pewter scones, embroidered pillows and pinnies, printed wall hangings and the traditional Dagestani horses, we thought, "What a nice addition to Princeton shops!"

(By the way, Nordcraft closes at 3 on Saturdays. We very nearly didn't make it through the door!)

News Of The Theatres

Peggy wood will star in the presentation, assisted by Kim Huxley, Thomas Coley and William Roerich. Mr. Coley and Mr. Roerich, who were friends of Forester's, have arranged the selections. They are conversational in tone and have been described as a mixture of anthology and biographical commentary.

DANCE PROGRAM SUNDAY
In Murray Theatre. The Creative Arts Program at Princeton University is sponsoring an evening of Modern Dance. The star performer is Zee'va Cohen, Visiting Lecturer in Modern Dance at the University, and Clyde W. Morgan and Carl J. Moxwell, soloists with the Jose Limon Dance Company. The performance will be held Sunday evening at 8:30 in the Murray Theatre on the University Campus, admission free. The three dancers collaborate artistically at Julliard and with the Jose Limon, Anna Sokolow and Pearl Lang dance companies. The three of them also constitute the dance faculty at the Berkshire Music Festival, and will return in Townsend next summer to conduct the dance program.

NEW AT BRECHT WEST
"The Bridge." A new play by the Italian playwright R. Frattini will open this Friday at Brecht West, the New Branchwick theatre at 61 Albany Street.

Two performances, at 8:30 and 10:30 p.m., will be given. The play will be presented again at the same hours this Saturday and next Friday and Saturday also.

In lieu of the usual Thursday night opening, Brecht West will present this Thursday at 8:30 p.m., an experimental film, "Son Motion" by Richard Lerner. Admission is free, but donations will be accepted.

Mr. Pratt, who now lives in New York, has won several awards in Italy for his plays. His style is to open a play with an absurd scene, then narrow the focus for a return to reality. He writes frequently for periodicals in Italy, and holds a doctorate in languages and literature.

Reservations at Brecht West may be made by calling 201-628-2730.

WILDE IS NEXT
"Importance of Being Earnest." Oscar Wilde's brilliant classic "The Importance of Being Earnest" will open at McCarter next Friday, March 19, at 8:30 p.m.

Wilde once called his farce "A Trivial Comedy for Serious People" (that's when it was produced, in 1895. Conventional morality, solemnity and dullness are all ridiculed).

Jack and Algernon, the two heroes whose double lives spin out a hilarious whirl of mistaken identity, will be played by Richard Jamieson and Richard Piltcher. The ladies—Gwendolyn and Cecily—will be Beth Dixon and Alice Elliott.

Mr. Jamieson was the Rev. Donnas in McCarter's "Little Murders" and Mr. Piltcher was Kenny in the same play. Miss Dixon was Lady Macbeth in "Macbeth" and Miss Elliott was the Wedding Guest in "Little Murders."

Lella Cannon, who has played character roles in previous McCarter seasons—she was Henry Higgins' mother in "Pygmalion"—will play Lady Bracknell.

Brendan Burke, the Curio of "Caesar at the Rubicon" will be the Rev. Canon Chasuble and Scotty Bloch, the mother in "Little Murders," will be come Miss Prism the governess.

Robert Blackburn, who played Caesar, will be the minister Sam Lane and Lloyd Williams, the tailor in "Caesar" will be Merriman the butler.

PLAYHOUSE

Catch-22 (now playing) M. K. Heller's best-selling novel of World War II is close enough to the original to please most readers of the book. Buck Henry (who also co-authored the script of "The Graduate") has retained a sufficient number of the alternately comical, outrageous and blood-curdling episodes.

The squadron briefing scene in which General Dreedle, played by the gargantuan and still fearfully talented Orson Welles, is annoyed by the meaning noises the army make while jerking at the sexy WAC who always accompanies him, has been so cleverly re-created that it is hilarious.

Alan Arkin, who plays Yossarian, the slightly mad non-commissioned lieutenant who just wants to be grounded and sent home, is superb. Also very front and center is Jon Voight as Milo, the shrewd opportunist who sets up an army "syndicate."

The settings, filmed in Mexico and Rome, contribute to the atmosphere of fantasy required. David Watkins' photography is something to behold. One memorable shot among many is that of the rickety B-2's taking off in an awkward formation looking like wing-battered butterflies.

GARDEN
The Passion of Anna (through Fri.) opens this year's Film Festival at the Garden. The passion is that of a woman for truth as a guide to existence, a philosophy that remains in the air, a trait for her since her whole life is built around sentimental memories of her dead husband and a marriage which she has falsely idealized.

Ann, played with brilliance by Liv Ullmann, finds herself in a new love affair that soon repeats the pattern of her unsuccessful marriage. Max Van Sydow is characteristically good in his role of Andreas, a man whose primary trait is to suppress all emotion.

The setting is typically Bergman—a remote island.

"Kes" (Saturday and Sunday) is a remarkably well-made and likeable film about the trials of early youth. "Kes" is an abbreviation for kestrel, or hawk.

The picture was filmed in the Yorkshire mining town of Barnsley and it takes a while to get used to the dialect. Other than that, this is a superior movie—a character portrait of a 15-year-old boy who is neglected at home by his mother and abused by an older brother, and who is bored with school. His pleasure lies in falconry, an art he masters using a baby hawk he has captured and trained from instructions from a stolen book. Basically the plot is out of the "My Friend Flicka" and "The Yearling" school, but it is told in adult fashion. And it's also often funny—the soccer game, for instance. David Bradley, a boy who has acted only in school plays, plays the lead with rare sensitivity.

Leo the Last (Monday & Tuesday) is an interesting movie, even though it doesn't know where it's going. The muted color photography is just lovely to look at and there's a hearty but surprisingly haunting street singer who wanders among the poor. Rich vs. poor is what the film is all about, in the highly debatable theme that life is somehow more beautiful among the poor. Marcello Mastroianni plays the part of idle rich Leo in a detached sort of way.

From his mansion, he watches the poor through a telescope and determines to help his neighbors. He turns his back on his brainy girl friend, his nattering nanny, his advisors and faithful servants and plunges into the teeming streets.

The camera focuses on ghetto life—attempted rape, sudden heart attacks, a cleverly staged family robbery in a grocery store, and a street young thing who turns where to support her family. And Leo gets stung.

EDNA HUNTER NEEDS YOUR HELP ON MARCH 30

And we need hers on the School Board. Vote for Mrs. Hunter in the borough. She's committed to firm guidance and direction for the system coming from the Board. She's for fiscal responsibility and better business management. As a parent, she wants a method of measuring and evaluating school programs. She's for innovation as a means, not an end in itself.

Call Mrs. Hunter between 1 and 5 p.m. on Thursday, March 11 (924-4008) and see for yourself where she stands. Or, take the word of a broad-based group of involved neighbors who already have. VOTE FOR HUNTER IN THE BOROUGH, HILL AND MARVEL IN THE TOWNSHIP ON MARCH 30.

It's New To Us
 a very tasteful assortment of casual clothes and accessories for men and girls, with Kelly, young and tall, towering over everything.
 So many of the things at Kelly's are made by young designers from Princeton and nearby, that you get a very fresh look at the creativity and handwork standards of the New Generation.

We liked immensely the granny skirts made by Marge Clayton, choosing the tight prints that remind you of Conestoga wagon days. Mark Vine is represented by some truly different belts, all hand-tooled and heavy calf, with buckles like nowhere else. The theme of some is geometric with reds and greens stained on in contrast to the rich brown of the background. The most unusual shows a spider in his web, with the bell edges faintly repeating the outer line of the web.
 Kelly, an artist in metal himself, worked for wholesale houses until he had saved enough money to open the shop. "My partner ran off with my money," he comments. "But I'm getting straightened out now." You will be interested with the jewelry he has designed, much of it in strong patterns translated into fragile metals. The necklets and bibs are flowing, fluid lines.
 Frank Kurtz is designing a number of vests for Kelly's. We saw a heavy cotton print in a vertical black-and-white pattern, tie belted and very nicely made. (310) Others are of suede or snakeskin or denim. He is also beginning to

"Loop Road" Essential, Report Says

The "Loop Road" around Princeton should have "the highest possible priority."
 That's the unanimous conclusion reached by members of the Regional Development Association when they examined Phase II of the traffic study they commissioned late in 1969. Phase I, an analysis of existing traffic patterns, was released in October. The public is invited to attend an open meeting this Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Campus Center, Princeton Theological Seminary, to learn more about Phase II and the land use and population patterns of Princeton up to the year 1990.
 The report will show how future traffic might be assigned to existing streets or to Route 92-A, I-96, and the "Loop Road," which is now called "General Mercer Drive."
 It is expected that officials, members of governing bodies and planning boards of all municipalities in the greater Princeton area and representatives of industry and educational institutions will be present. The presentation of Phase II will be followed by representatives of the engineering firm of Tippetts, Abbott, McCarthy and Stratton, professional traffic consultants.
 The Regional Development Association is the operating arm of the Regional Development Council, a non-profit corporation formed in 1967 to co-ordinate the efforts of various counties and municipalities in this area in the relief of traffic congestion. The chairman of the Association is Minot C. Morgan Jr.

turn out the new short shorts, or "hot pants," for the girls choosing corduroy, and brush cottons in bright colors and prints.
 Kelly's has cotton pullovers, in interesting knits, well-tailored print shirts and everything in pants. Spring things coming in during the next few weeks will include bathing suits and other beach wear, now being made for the shop and a long skirts. Alterations and tailoring is done by Shirley Trammell. Prices range from about $6.75 to $25 for the clothes; the costume jewelry about $10 to $25, with the 14k gold designs using the various stones starting at $25.
 It's all very casual at Kelly's.

CRAFTS EXHIBIT OPENS
Make A Donation To Peace
 The third gallery show sponsored by the Fund for Peace Education is an eye-opening look at the work of craftsmen in the Princeton Community. Some are professionals, others are amateurs, but the work of all is as provocative as it is varied.
 There's a two-headed dragon on the brass and glass head necklace designed by Cynthia Newby Luce. This is part of a jewelry collection that will be produced in Brazil in limited editions of 25 for each design. Elsiebeth Woody's lacy necklaces of filigreed silver wire and ceramic beads will be on display, as will modern gold earrings and rings by Roger Thompson.

We liked Ellen Schattschneider's velvet skirt with a hand-woven front panel in rose and blue-toned wools, and her scarf woven in light weight, sand-colored wool. From Ginny Lynch, a flap pouch bag, suede on one side, handwoven tweed on the other, or "hot pants," for the girls choosing corduroy, and brush cottons in bright colors and prints.

You may also be interested with Alexander Randall's work in stained glass - ranging from trees to free-flow designs. There's also a ceramic birdfeeder, an open-ended barrel in shape, which we found intriguing. (Donnie $7.50 to the peace fund, and it's yours)
 There's also a continuing exhibit of prints at the Peace Gallery. Artists include Demaris, Saul Lambert, Trudy Gluckberg, Mae Rockland, Maurice Sturcken and Jacob Landau.

Trudy Gluckberg, a considerable artist in her own right, and Professor Bart Hoebel of the Princeton University psychology department are the forces behind the Fund for Peace Education.
 The gallery, at 163 Nassau, is open 9 to 5, Monday through Saturday. All art work and peace ware are available for a donation.

Mixed Priorities.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is a copy of a letter I have sent to the Mayor and Council of Princeton Borough.

You ask for opinions on keeping the Public Library open on Sunday afternoons, but you have not made public the fact that the Library's 1971 budget has been cut. Everyone will agree that Sunday hours would be pleasant, but everyone does not know that the book budget has had to be cut, a long with other categories. And there are not enough books in the library now to meet the demand.

Very few requests for Sunday opening have come to the staff or to the Library Board during the past nine years that I served as a trustee. Innumerable complaints about lack of books have come to both. They are still coming. Have any of you seen the empty shelves on any Saturday? First things first: haven't you risk the priorities move? MRS. E. BALDWIN SMITH

Did Fear Affect 'Tuxer' Vote?

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The reasons, as reported in the local papers, for the minority vote in the North Square decision are disturbing. These seem to be that (a) there is a need for ratebates; (b) the decision could damage our existing ordinances and (c) there may be a lawsuit.

We who opposed this project are not, we assure you, in favor of more and heavier taxes. Although neither paper reported it, part of our argument was in fact that the project could possibly increase our taxes. We noted that such an effect had taken place in several California communities. And we further pointed out that even neglecting all other service costs, the cost of just the road improvements necessitated by this building proposal would probably cancel out any rateable benefits for many years to come.

Moreover, since Mr. Wallace ruled, in public session, that these arguments were not germane to the question before the Committee, I was puzzled to learn that the rateable issue had been a consideration in the vote.

Even more serious, though, is the reason that there may be a lawsuit. I am sure none of us solicit lawsuits, but fear of one does not seem to be an admirable reason for casting one's vote on an issue of public interest. Could not such an attitude eventually permit any developer to circumvent township law by the use of threat?

I think I would prefer my committee to make decisions, based on the arguments presented, as to whether it is the individuals' (the architects) or the public's rights which are being infringed upon. I would hope our system would not be vulnerable to intimidation.

Finally there is the argument about damage to our existing ordinances. As I read the statements of the minority voters, I was impressed by their dedication to upholding existing ordinances. But I was confused about the expressed need for a new ordinance that would clearly and specifically permit the construction of the North Square complex in the Service Zone.

The architects claim that their proposed building is permitted in that zone by the ordinance. Mr. Chace and Mr. Wallace must agree.

We who have opposed the plan do not agree with that interpretation, and we have raised this point several times. We still believe we are right. But if the minority committeemen believe they are right, why do they think there is a need for a new ordinance to specifically permit this construction?

What is going on?

North Square Arithmetic.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
One of the ways by which the public is deceived is when someone, having an axe to grind, puts out a set of frightening numbers for publication. These numbers may be of dollars, tons, arrests or deaths, according to the circumstances. However, often they simply are not true.

Many times the trouble is that it is difficult to expose the untruth because of the ambiguous nature of the original statement, or problems of opinion or estimate, or the presence of teams of opposing experts. It is therefore a relief to be able to say that, in a news item last week on North Square, we have a set of these juggled numbers which we can submit to accurate review, because the true facts are at hand, so that the people of the Township can see how they can be taken in.

The story said that, based on an assessment of $3 million for the North Square project, it would have provided about $118,000 a year in taxes at 1971 rates, and would have cut — Continued on Next Page 13 cents from the proposed $1.10 municipal tax rate. Analyzing the facts as we can do with the aid of public records, we find:

1. A tax of $118,000 comes from an assessment of $1.64 million, or about half of the $3 million assessment given in the story. (Assuming the tax rate is increased only by the increase in the municipal rate)

2. The taxable assessed valuation of the Township is over $53 million. An assessment of $1.64 million added to this base represents barely one and three-quarters percent (1.72%) of the total assessment for taxes.

3. The "cut" in the municipal tax rate is therefore less than 13 cents, and not 13 cents as claimed in the news item. The error is over 85%. Let the reader guess why the municipal tax rate was chosen instead of the total tax.

The story assuming that what a new taxpayer unit pays is pure gain. Commitment Hartmann quite temperately during this assumption. In fact, some of the counterbalancing costs were pointed out during the various meetings on this project.

Put these points together and you find that what is trumpeted as a calamity turns out to be at worst a small expense, and possibly even a saving.

A more immediate attack upon the public welfare under a smokescreen of reverse arithmetic will be up for final passage next week. This is the ordinance to reduce the parking requirements for office buildings by one-third. The argument is that a building like the proposed North Square needs so many parking places under the present law that a water runoff hazard is created, and that therefore we must change the law to reduce the number of parking places.

Does not ordinary common sense compel us to observe that a building which needs that many parking places is much too large. Let us consider some points with which everyone is familiar.

1. The average space occupied by one person in an office building is probably less than 200 square feet gross.

2. It is a fact of modern life that people who work in a building tend to not near residences which to travel one person to a car.

3. If parking spaces are not provided on the premises, people will park on the street. Witness the mess around the medical building on Mt. Lucas Road near Turnpike.

At the purpose of the parking law is to keep cars from being parked on the street, the ordinance should be opposed and defeated.

At the moment, the plan to allow the North Square project by changing the law, after the opposition of the citizenry defeated it under existing law, is a cloud on the horizon.

Meanwhile, the trustee of the animal shelter proudly guards the secrecy of the mysterious Deed of Trust, the contents of which may not be revealed to the ordinary citizens of Princeton.

ARNOLD I. DUMEY

Editor's Note: For the record, the arithmetic which Mr. Dumeys labels 85% erroneous was not in last week's TOWN TOPICS.

and faces a Township court hearing on March 23. He was arrested Saturday afternoon by Bruce Beattie, a university professor. Mr. Beattie signed the complaint.

Thomas P. Taylor, 32 of Trenton, has been charged with drunken driving by Borough police.

He was picked up at 1:29 Monday morning after police observed him driving in an erratic manner on Washington Road. Free on $250 bail, Mr. Taylor is scheduled to appear in court on Monday.

TWO OFFICES ENTERED

At 194 Nassau Street, two third-floor offices at 194 Nassau Street were entered last week.

One hundred dollars in cash and $50 in postage were taken from a petty cash box in a desk near the main door of Systems Technology Inc. Pili David Alston, who investigated, reported that the door had been forced open. Police were called at 8:46 Monday morning.

Frederick Smith of Research Parametric Corp. called Sunday afternoon to report the theft of $40 from a petty cash box on a counter. Police said the theft took place between 2 and 2:50 p.m. Police said the car had not been forced open.

Wallet Taken. Miss Nancy Shannon had her wallet stolen from her car Saturday while it was parked on Patton Ave. near the wall.

A clerk told police that three men had entered the store and while two kept her occupied with conversation the third apparently took the items.

Shannon had her wallet stolen from her car Saturday while it was parked on Patton Ave. near the wall.

THREE ARE INJURED

In Separate Accidents. Three drivers were injured in separate accidents here last week. Mrs. Wally Seglin, 67 of Belle Mead was treated at Princeton Hospital for a mild concussion, fractured elbow and bruises of the right knee after she struck a tree when she drove her car into a tree on Friday afternoon on the Great Road.

Mrs. Seglin told police that she could remember nothing except that suddenly there was a tree in front of her. She stepped on her brakes, but was unable to stop. There were no charges.

Dennis M. McCloskey, 20, 327 Princeton Road, was taken by a passing motorist to Princeton Hospital, after his convertible was involved in a mishap on Mount Lucas Road. He was treated for a laceration of the forehead.

Pil. Robert Nielsen charged Helen M. Simmons, 20, 115 Washington Street, Rocky Hill, with careless driving. His investigation revealed that the

PAINT YOURSELF OUT OF A CORNER

BILL MONAGHAN

You never stop learning during your life, and once you've learned to scheme out your income tax, make a pie, drive a car, keep those plants on your windowsill alive, fix a dripping faucet, write a computer program and do all the prudent things that keep the objective side of your life together, you owe it to yourself to learn something subjective to keep the balance. If you find that you're in a figurative corner surrounded by dripping faucets, capital gain distributions and similar limitations of the spirit, we suggest that you paint yourself out of it.

The Artist Shack's painting courses, directed by flamework artist Bill Monaghan, teach basic oil, acrylic and water color painting with the emphasis on technique and a feel for a painter's materials. We try to establish a firm basis for the satisfactions that are yours when you begin to use art materials properly and then watch your paintings develop magically on their own. In our open-media classes, students choose the medium they prefer and receive personal instruction appropriate to their level of skill, from novice to experienced artist.

Bill Monaghan brings more than twenty years of art experience to his 13-week course. He has studied at Philadelphia's Museum School, the Academy of Fine Arts and Temple University's Tyler School, mastered brush-and-link painting in Japan, and earned a reputation in New Jersey as artist and teacher. His associate, Joan Sansone, has studied at Pratt Institute and Fairleigh Dickinson University and is a charter member and past board member of the Livingston Art Association. Both Bill and Joan are active professionals who exhibit frequently and have years of background in all fine-art media.

Bill Monaghan's 13-week course for adults begins April 27th; a special Saturday morning session for young adults begins April 17th. Joan Sansone's eight-week course for adults begins March 24th.

Write, call or visit The Artist Shack for course schedules and details. And paint yourself out of that corner.

JOAN SANSONE

SUMMER SESSIONS FOR CHILDREN

The Artist Shack's summer schedule will include an expansion of our current Saturday morning program for young adults to a Monday through Friday basis. The 9 am to Noon classes will instruct youngsters 8 to 16 in painting, sculpture, collage, and charcoal and pastel drawing, and will include field trips to museums and to studios of local artists and crafts-men.

Since enrollment will be limited, we recommend early applications for this worthwhile introduction to fine art.

INTRODUCING OIL PAINTING

In a special lecture and demonstration series of four two-hour evening sessions, Bill Monaghan will explain oil painting from its basic materials to the sophisticated techniques of expressionism which define his own painting style. Beginning March 24th at 7:30 p.m., and continuing for four consecutive Wednesday evenings until April 14th, the series will cover: Introduction to Materials — vehicles, paints, brushes, special agents, varnishes and painting surfaces.

Anatomy of a Painting — techniques of the realistic, surrealist, impressionistic, expressionistic, cubist and constructivist styles.

Direct Painting — composition, roughing, spatial development, form and selectivity.

Expressionistic Painting — its history and methods of developing style.

Each lecture, to be given in the Community Room of the Pennytown Shopping Village on Route 31 in Pennington, will be accompanied by a demonstration and question period. The fee for each session will be $4. If you want to know more about oil painting you won't want to miss this opportunity for an in-depth introduction to its styles, materials and techniques. PAINTING CHINA AND CERAMICS

The centuries-old art of decorating porcelain with eye glaze mineral colors will be taught in an evening course that begins March 23rd and in a morning session that begins March 24th at The Artist Shack's studios. Marilyn Wittlinger, a professional china painter whose jewelry and decorative plate work for Lumar are prestige gift items in stores throughout the country, will introduce beginning students to her special art in ten weekly sessions.

Another special art on The Artist Shack's spring painting schedule is ceramic painting, taught by Beve Rednor in five weekly sessions to be announced. Students will work on live bisque and greenware decorative items and learn to finish them like professionals with acrylics and translucent.

Write, call or visit The Artist Shack for course schedules and details.

The splendor of spring will be enhanced, if that's possible, beneath the newly green trees of Pennington's Pennytown Shopping Village when The Artist Shack presents its Spring Show of student paintings and ceramics the weekend of May 15th. Plan a Saturday or Sunday drive on Route 31 to enjoy some springtime and some art with us. We'll have balloons for the kiddies and we'll expect you.

PALETTE AND PATTERN

Starting this spring, every evening at eight in Pennytown Community Room, The Artist Shack will sponsor a free cultural kaleidoscope devoted to art and anything related to it. Bill Monaghan of our painting staff answers questions, explains artistic mysteries, pours coffee and generally enjoys himself talking with visitors about his favorite subject. Drop in or write for starting date of our Palette and Pattern sessions on Monday evenings; you'll enjoy yourself, too.

In place of the incinerator, the SOC plans a "transfer station" consisting of a heavy duty tractor ($15,500) and a stationary compactor ($38,750). The compactor will pack solid waste so the Borough's contractor, Princeton Disposal, can cart it off to a dump owned by the company in an area north of Princeton.

"The cost doesn't seem so bad," commented mayor Robert W. Cawley. "We'd have had to spend substantially on maintenance of that incinerator."

Co operation with Mercer County will continue, emphasized Councilman John Strange and the compactor is regarded as short run (four to five years). The county's study, just launched by the firm of Day and Zimmerman, is expected to be finished in about four years.

Mr. Strange said the Borough is waiting for the Township's move on an ordinance banning non returnable bottles, and he hopes to have such an ordinance ready for April introduction.

Council amended the SOC lease to allow expansion of the group from three to six members. Township Committee has already acted.

The coin stations to be converted will be outdoor booths with Princeton exchanges 921 and 924. Conversion of the phones requires modifications in the central office as well as adjustments on the coin phones themselves.

With not much to go on, it appears the Carpi case may take its place beside that of young Jamie Zapolski, who vanished five years ago this month.

Chinese Club Puts Cooking Talent to Work

Drunken chicken, chicken, bamboo chicken in sesame oil, Kung Pao chicken and soya sauce beef with fine straw-mushrooms will all be on the menu Saturday, March 27, when the Princeton University Chinese Club stages its "China Night" dinner. The affair is open to the public at $6 per person, and will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Stevenson Hall, 9 Prospect Avenue.

Recognizing the availability of superb cooking talents in the Chinese community here in Princeton, the club has asked Mrs. Yung-Chi Chen, the well known instructor of Chinese cooking at the Adult School, to organize the dinner. Proceeds from the dinner will help fund many of the club's activities, including its Chinese Language School for children. The mothers of these youngsters will be doing most of the cooking.

Entertainment is also being planned. Reservations must be made in advance by calling Mrs. Patsy Lam, 924-2191 or Mrs. Virginia Wei, 924-9920, after 6 p.m. Mail reservations may be sent to Mrs. Wei, 47 Broadridge Drive. Checks should be made out to the Princeton University Chinese Club.

And some of the other delicacies on that menu include thousand years eggs, abalone slices, sweet and sour pork, rabbit, apurancu chinese style, herbs of chinese cabbage in chicken sauce, yangchow, fried rice, and almond flat with leech nut.

president, Mrs. Denman Saeed, man, second vice president, Mrs. Ronald R. Black, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Richard Borden, recording secretary. Frank Rogers Jr. was re-elected treasurer. Ronald R. Black, Princeton resident, has been appointed chairman of the club's annual dinner. The next scheduled meeting is March 25.

Bryn Mawr Club of Princeton, 8 p.m. Monday, April 5, at the home of Mrs. James C. Crummins, 287 Nassau St. The guest of honor will be James R. Tanis, director of libraries at the Pennsylvania college. He will speak following dinner and coffee.

Final plans will be drawn at that time for the 40th annual Bryn Mawr Book Sale. The event is scheduled for Wednesday through Saturday, April 21-24 in the Princeton Borough Gymnasium. A special preview sale for children only will be held Tuesday evening. Also on the agenda for the meeting, to which his hands are invited, is the election of new club officers.

Anyone wishing to contribute books or records to the sale, which enables the club to grant scholarships to central New Jersey students, at Bryn Mawr, may arrange free pickup by calling Mrs. Lyman Suther, 924-3907. Contributions are tax deductible.

National Association of Accountants, Princeton Chapter, Wednesday, March 17, at Dow Jones & Company, Inc. A seminar on "Management Decision Making Game for Computer System 360" will be conducted by William T. Rice, Mr. Rice is Manager, Computer Services Facility, Dow Jones & Company, Inc. Prospect members are welcome.

Hillstown Registered Nurses Association, 8 p.m. Tuesday, at the Old York Inn. The guest speaker of the evening will be Mr. Domenick Colangelo, Administrator of the Child Guidance Center of Mercer County, who will discuss emotionally disturbed children. The talk will include a discussion of specific problems and cases followed by a question and answer period. The services and programs of the Child Guidance Center will also be discussed.

Presently, Mr. Colangelo holds positions as a member of the Board of Trustees of Valley Day School for Emotionally Disturbed Children, the Bucks County Child Welfare Board, and President Elect of the New Jersey Association of Mental Health Agencies.

All nurses, active or inactive, are cordially invited to attend. Guests are welcome.

Princeton Weavers Guild: 8 p.m. Thursday, March 18, First National Bank of Central Jersey, Rt. 518, Rocky Hill. Miss Emily Post will discuss the workshop on Open Work. Weavers scheduled for April. Open to all interested weavers.

The annual meeting of the Community Homecare Service will be held in the assembly room of the First Presbyterian Church, Princeton, N.J., Thursday, March 11, 1971.

ECOLOGY in Princeton

"Ecology in Princeton," the first in a series of monthly columns on the myriad problems created for our environment by late 20th century technology, has been written for TOWN TOPICS by Ted Light. Mrs. Light returns to these pages as a former columnist — she was the first author of "It's New to Us" when the shopping column made its debut some years ago. Questions arising from the pages she makes and suggestions for future material may be directed to her at her home on Cherry Valley Road (telephone 924-1232).

THOUGHTS FOR ALL
And What to Do About Them. Remember when we were kids how we used to write our addresses on letters as "Princeton, New Jersey" or wherever it was, U.S.A., World Galaxy, Universe? Some kids still do, and perhaps it would be a good idea if we all did. Becoming aware of how small, insignificant it has become all-important that we stay constantly aware of how small, insignificant, how finite we actually are. The feeling of helplessness that so many of us share as we read about, or actually suffer from, the effects of our over-consumptive society are sometimes overwhelming.

The "but what can I do?" syndrome exists everywhere.

A terrifying number of knowledgeable and eminent scientists believe that there is nothing you, or I, or he (or she!) can do to reverse the suicidal course the Earth is on.

Innocent until proven guilty is a precious principle when applied to human beings but can be disastrous when applied to things. In an article in BioScience Magazine, Walter Rosen, of the State University of New York at Buffalo, deplors our application of the principle to such things as thermal pollution, synthetic molecules, combustion products, food additives, pesticides, medicines, packaging materials, defoliation, irrigation systems and supersonic aircraft. "Until we develop a true sense of the unity of nature," he says "we are destined to fail to respond effectively to the possible mortal perturbations which we have inflicted upon her."

Reversing the Trend. Dr. Rosen poses two questions: How can we overcome our ability to reverse the trend in environmental pollution to the point where our survival is in danger: "will we die?" and "can we die?" His answer to the first question is, "yes — if we are willing to make the drastic changes that are necessary to save us;" to the second, "no — for we cannot bear the thought of a moratorium on business as usual."

And yet, and yet, there are things that each of us, collectively and individually, can do to make this a world for our children and grandchildren not only to exist, but to live, in. The move is on.

here and in many parts of the world, and we, as Princetonians, can be a part of it. Some of us already are, and this one area where we cannot suffer from overpopulation. There are working organizations, locally and nationally, to be joined; there are many things we as individuals can do or not do if we care enough. About the "not doing" a pamphlet put out by the Stony Brook - Millstone Watersheds Association says, "STIFLE that inner voice that says a little bit won't hurt. Multiply it by 203,000, 000."

So that is what this column is about. We hope to help you to help. We will keep you abreast of vital issues before the New Jersey Legislature and the U. S. Congress, and we will give you names and addresses of people to write concerning them (writing does help — we have it on the authority of several Congressmen.)

We will tell you what Princeton is doing to cope with its own pollution problems, what needs doing, how you can get involved and what other communities have accomplished along these lines. We will give you the names and addresses of organizations you can join.

Twelve Suggestions. For a starter, here are some of their suggestions on water pollution:

- 1) Don't flush unnecessarily (cigarettes, facial tissues, etc.)
- 2) Don't put heavy paper cloths, rags, disposable diapers, grease, solvents, into water disposal systems.
- 3) Use white toilet tissue —

dyes, pollute. (Also paper towels, napkins, etc.)

- 4) Don't fertilize your lawn — run off following rains pollutes our streams and water table.
- 5) Wash dishes and/or run your dishwasher once a day.
- 6) Use detergents low on phosphates and not containing enzymes. Phosphates help algae and weeds grow, thus reducing oxygen level.

The most recent list of phosphate content is posted at Davidson's and the Whole Earth Center on Nassau Street.

- 7) Don't use full amounts listed on detergent boxes in dishwasher or clothes washer.
- 8) Promote residential sewage disposal systems; eliminate cesspools.
- 9) Organize groups to haul junk out of rivers.
- 10) Exert pressure on high factory effluents to clean up.
- 11) Write you state and local officials about evidence of pollution in your area.
- 12) Support your local watershed: Stony Brook - Millstone Watershed Ass'n. P. O. Box 171, Pennington, N. J. 08534.

Combating pollution requires a combination of awareness, concern, imagination, persistence, energy and dedication, qualities which Princetonians have shown in no small measure. Let's get together and use them to prove Dr. Rosen's second answer wrong.

If we can do it, perhaps we can show the way to other towns, states, the U.S.A. and, ultimately, the world. If we can save our Earth, enhance it, that the universe can take care of itself! — Pat Light in order to continue the pursuit of excellence in education, our school system builds on the past, but it cannot be tied down to the past. It must be bold in meeting the problems of today; it must be responsive to the needs of pupils now; it must make plans for tomorrow. The school administration must be guided by stable, far sighted policies laid down by a Board of Education which evaluates performance for effectiveness and economy — a Board that can communicate with the entire community, interpreting policies, acts, and proposals, in a non-divisive, constructive way.

These three candidates for the Board of Education of Princeton Regional Schools will translate such principles into action. We urge you to support them.

"I am primarily interested in maintaining a progressive school system and helping to develop all facets of public education that will more fully prepare our children for their future."

Established Board policies must be constantly re-examined, new approaches to education considered, and fiscal policies reviewed. The Board must recognize and execute its management responsibility, while allowing school administrators and professional educators at all levels, the freedom to operate the schools, limited only by established Board policies.

I would use Citizens Committees to draw upon the broad scope of expertise available in this community, and encourage student participation in more decision making processes.

"Accountability should be stressed at this critical time in the Princeton Regional Schools. Accountability means: the schools being accountable to the community, by a prudent use of tax money and a careful consideration of each new program; school administrators to parents, by clarifying educational goals and student evaluation; and the superintendent to the school board, by presenting a full picture on each question so that decisions can be made efficiently and effectively. To scapegoat the issue by resorting to a pro or anti administration approach, represents an attempt to solve complex problems with a simple answer. Only a continuing and thoroughgoing process of accountability can ensure the best possible education for our children."

Princeton High School, John Witherspoon Park Board

President of Youth Employment Service
"It is easy to take a negative attitude toward much that is happening in American society today, including our public schools. While I admit there is much to criticize, I believe we can do better by building up than tearing down.
Our children have individual needs and abilities. Our schools should provide each with the best possible options and opportunities for learning.
Our teachers and administrators merit our respect. Let us encourage them by carefully considering their professional plans for improving the quality of education.
As a parent — and tax paying homeowner — I affirm my faith in the goals of our Princeton Schools, and my willingness to be taxed to achieve them. At the same time, the schools must bear a responsibility for sound fiscal practices and for clear reporting to the public."

VIVISAKER TO SPEAK

On Community Services
Paul N. Vivasaker, former Commissioner of Community Affairs for New Jersey, now on the faculty of the Woodrow Wilson School, will deliver the keynote address at the annual meeting of the Princeton Area
Council of Community Services to be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Woodrow Wilson School. His presentation will be at 7:30.

New Directions: A Meeting to Examine the Pattern of Participation in the Community Services of Our Area, is Dr.
Vivasaker's subject. Questions from the audience will be invited after his talk. Small discussion groups will then meet with a leader and a reporter. A final plenary session will bring the evening to a close.

In making continuing efforts to make community organizations how to change and improve programs and how to involve younger citizens will be among the questions to be considered.

Discussion group leaders will be Jack Cooper, Fred Fields, F. Sheldon Hackney, Charles Henderson and Robert Martin. The committee planning the meeting consists of Mrs. Leslie Vivian Jr., Mrs.
F. Sheldon Hackney, Charles
Henderson, Jack Cooper, Robert
Popkin, Michael H. Decker

Paul N. Vivasaker

and Thomas Navas, all members of the board of the Council. Executive director, Mrs. M.
Nancy C. Gryzbek.

GUERNSEY HALL SAVES Organ Studio Is Denied. His wife's Guernsey Hall, 68 Lovers Lane, will continue to be a part of Princeton's heritage.
That was assured last week
when the Borough Zoning Board denied the application of T. Edmund Willis II and his mother to raise the old mansion and erect a home containing an organ studio in its place. Mr. Willis indicated he would not appeal the decision.
Indeed, he has been quoted as saying that he was surprised by the intensity of the opposition to his plans, that he probably would not have gone ahead, even if he had obtained board approval.

In a unanimous decision, the board ruled that the application had failed to "provide the standard of proof necessary to support a favorable recommendation by the board to Mayor and Council or to support the granting of other relief by this board."

An organ studio is a permitted use in a R1 zone, in which Guernsey Hall is located,
but, when Mr. Willis said that he intended to charge for lessons, this made it a home occupation and subject to zoning requirements. Under the Borough's zoning code, a home occupation must be limited to 40 percent of the ground floor area or 400 square feet, whichever is less.

As an indication of how far astray Mr. Willis was in this requirement, William J. Brennan, an attorney representing Eugene P. Gillevue whose property at 51 Lovers Lane was 72 feet away from the Guernsey Hall lot line, had figures showing that 1800 square feet of the proposed home would be devoted to organ purposes.
1400 for the studio, 393
feet for the organ chamber, 415 for the pannel room and 122 for the bloower room.

Mrs. Majone S. Kerr of Edmund Cook & Co. told the board that Guernsey Hall had been sold through her agency and another offer, Mr. Willis offer, she said, was the only one they had received on the property since it was first put on the market last June.
Mr. Willis and his mother had signed an agreement to buy in November contingent on getting the necessary zoning relief.

NEW DEAN NAMED

To Head Engineering School, Dr. Robert G. Jahn, 40-year-old Professor of Aerospace Sciences at Princeton University, who is known throughout the scientific community for his pioneering work in the field of electric propulsion, was named today as Dean of Princeton's School of Engineering and Applied Science by President Robert F. Goheen. He will assume the deanship of the half-century-old School at the end of this academic year.

Professor Jahn will succeed Dr. Joseph C. Elgin, Dean of the School for the past 17 years, who will be taking his first leave in two decades. A member of the Princeton faculty since 1959, Dean Elgin will reach retirement age the following year.

Professor Jahn becomes the fourth Dean of Princeton's engineering school, which traces its lineage back to the founding of the John C. Green School of Science in 1874 (it became the School of Engineering in 1921 and added "Applied Science" in 1962, recognizing the enlarged scope of modern day engineering).

He takes over the leadership of a School with a faculty numbering nearly 100, in four basic departments and various interdepartmental programs. Currently, about one-fifth of Princeton's 3600 undergraduates are working toward the Bachelor of Science in Engineering degree while some 240 graduate students are seeking advanced engineering degrees.

Dr. Jahn is best known professionally for his research in the critically important field of electric propulsion — a propulsion method of which what now appears to be the most feasible means of exploration of our solar system and deep space. Since joining the Princeton faculty nine years ago, he has gained an international reputation in the field of advanced space propulsion and its application to space flight.

In 1968, he published what has come to be considered the definitive text in the field, "Physics of Electric Propulsion," a work called by one colleague "an eloquent statement of a truth" that "good engineering and good science are hardly distinguishable." In 1969, he received the Curtis W. McGraw Award of the American Society of Engineering Education for his research achievements in plasma propulsion.

A LOOK AT THE PAST

At Annual Antiques Show. Visitors to the 14th annual Princeton Antiques Show presented by the Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey will have an opportunity to hear programs presented by two distinguished authorities on "Our American Heritage," the theme of this year's show. The show, to be held in the Princeton Day School on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 18, 19 and 20, is a benefit for Wellesley College and the May Margaret Fine Scholarship Fund. On Thursday, March 18, at 2:15 p.m., Mrs. Helen Bullock will give an illustrated lecture entitled "Our Entertaining Ancestors." Senior Editor and Historian of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, Mrs. Bullock has combined a lifelong interest in entertaining and cooking with an interest in historical research.

In keeping with her light-hearted look at history, on Friday evening, March 19, at 8 p.m., Gordon Myers, a member of the music faculty at Trenton State College and conductor of the TSC Singers, will bring visitors to the show a concert of songs composed in America before 1800. His concert that evening, entitled "Songs of Early America," will also present tape recordings of instruments, such as harpsichord, wind and strings, which would originally have accompanied them.

This year the show will include 30 antique dealers from New England, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and the Middle West, several of them having shown every year since 1960. Others are brand new to Princeton this year.

Tickets for the show may be bought at the door for $2 or obtained in advance at the pre-show price of $1.50 by sending a check to The Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey, 7 Van Kirk Road, Princeton.

DRIVER FINED $247

For Three Violations. George E. Tkacs Jr., 19, 232 N. Harrison Street, charged with three traffic and two criminal violations, paid a total of $247 in fines last week in Borough Court. Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. fined him $210 for drunken driving, $25 for speeding and $12 for failing to obey a stop sign. In addition, his license was revoked for the mandatory 90-day suspension for the 10 years on the drunk driving charge, to which he pleaded not guilty. He also pleaded guilty to possession of alcohol but Judge Tkacs suspended the fine and costs. He dismissed a fifth charge — possession of legend drugs.

Three other young men who were in the car Tkacs was driving were fined $25 each for possession of alcohol. Frank A. Boccanfuso, 20, 32 Oakland Road; George F. Fleming, 20, 31 Scott Lane, Princeton Junction; and Robert Baroloino, 20, 8 Tee-Ar Place, Mr. Baroloino pleaded not guilty. A charge against Jerome McGowan, 23, 246 John Street, of using threatening and offensive language against John H. Kauffman at Princeton Hospital was dismissed. Mr. Kauffman, the complainant, was represented by attorney Garrett Heher. He is the hospital's executive vice-president.

"ALL YOU CAN EAT" At Pancake Breakfast. The annual YMCA Lumberjack breakfast will provide "all you can eat" as well as sausage, juice and other beverages from 8 to 11 this Saturday at the Y. Tickets at $1.25 per person are available at the Y or at the door the day of the event.

The Pancake Breakfast is being sponsored by the Y's Nova Scotia Ranger Club. Its members, boys ten to eleven years old, are raising money to help pay for their camping this summer at the YMCA Summer Ranger Camp. In conjunction with this, they plan a week long camping trip to Nova Scotia to highlight their camping experience. The proceeds from the breakfast will help pay for this trip.

In charge of preparing the food and chairman of the event is Mrs. David Hopkin.

NOMINEES SOUGHT

By Red Cross Chapter. Walter Myers, Jr., of Princeton Junction, has been named chairman of the nominating committee for the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross by Peter Loret, Members of the committee are Mrs. Peter Putnam, Joseph Catali, William Cosby and John H. Hoff III.

In accordance with the chapter's by-laws, names of candidates are requested by the nominating committee and may be submitted by any member of the chapter. Individuals who have contributed one dollar or more, either directly or through the Princeton Area United Fund-Red Cross campaign, are members of the chapter.

Offices to be filled are one-year terms for chairman, first, second and third vice-chairmen, secretary, treasurer and assistant treasurer; four three-year terms for board members and one board membership vacancy to serve until June 30, 1972. Nominations may be submitted in writing to Mr. Myers at the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross, 188 North Harrison St., Princeton, on or before Friday, April 2.

CANDIDATES NIGHT SET
By League. The League of Women Voters School Board Candidates Night has been set for Wednesday, March 17, 8 p.m. at Community Park School, Both Borough, and Township candidates will appear in a round table discussion sponsored by the League and Princeton PTO PTA Council.
Candidates will be asked questions prepared by the League and the Council, and later respond to questions from the floor. An informal reception following the meeting will allow an opportunity for the audience to speak with the candidates.

Cadet Girl Scout Troop 12 under the leadership of Mrs. William Star is assisting with the publicity and planning of Candidates Night as part of the girls' work in the area of citizenship.
Their study of local government and schools has included attendance at school board meetings in order to familiarize themselves with the issues facing Princeton School District voters this year.

ADMISSION HEAD NAMED
By Princeton University. Timothy C. Callard, a faculty member and college placement officer at Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass., has been named Director of Admission at Princeton University. His appointment is effective July 1.

A 1963 honors graduate of Princeton, he will succeed John T. Osander, who has headed the Admission Office for the last five years. Mr. Osander announced early last month that he was resigning at the end of the current academic year to start a non-profit "Educators' Learning Study" to influence the training of educational administrators and teachers.

Mr. Callard has been an Instructor in Religion at Phillips Andover since 1966; the year he finished graduate study at Columbia University and Union Theological Seminary, receiving an M.A. degree in religion. In graduate school, his work was directed to an examination of the thought of Bunhoeffer, Pittenger, and Tillich.

He also serves as Assistant Coach of Varsity Football and Varsity Lacrosse (sports in which he won All-Ivy honors at Princeton), as Director of Phillips' Community Service Program, as a member of the Chapel staff, and as Assistant Director of College Placement.

DRAFT IS TARGET
Of Washington Trip. A bus has been chartered for Wednesday, March 17, to take all those interested in lobbying in Washington, D.C., for the end of the draft. The trip is being sponsored by the Emergency Convocation to Repeal the Draft.

The trip has grown out of the Peace Action Forum held at the Quaker Meeting House where Jim Bristol, national organizer for the Council to Repeal the Draft, recently spoke. Plans to contact senators in Washington either by writing or in person were formulated.

The draft expires June 30 of this year. A Presidential commission headed by former secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates has recommended the end of the draft by that date, according to organizers of the trip.

The bus will leave from Palmer Square at 6:30 a.m. that morning. Tickets at $8 apiece are on sale at the Fund for Peace Education, 163 Nassau Street, second floor. For more information call Connie Birch 799-1691 or the Fund, 924-6161.

FIRST AID COURSES SET
By Red Cross. The Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold a Standard First Aid Course and Advanced First Aid Course.
The standard course requires five nights and the advanced course eight nights. For those wishing review only, the time requirements for standard are three nights and stand-warded review four nights.

George Hunt, a certified Red Cross instructor, will conduct the courses at the Princeton Red Cross Headquarters, 182 North Harrison Street. The hours will be 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Monday, and will be held on consecutive Monday nights. Please call Chapter headquarters at 924-2404 to register.

18 YEAR OLDS SOUGHT
By County Republicans. W. Harry Sayen of Princeton, Mercer County Republican Chairman, has announced the unanimous decision of the executive committee to seek aggressively the 18-year old vote and to have them participate in party affairs, functions and processes.

In the judgement of the Mercer County Republican Committee, he said, "the party should reflect immediately the fact that 18-year olds can vote in national elections, and that it is a foregone conclusion that the State of New Jersey will have to follow suit shortly."

"If they can vote nationally, if they can serve in the armed forces, if they can be licensed to drive, if they can marry and raise a family, if they can cope with all of these adult situations, they can fully cope with voting on state and local issues," Mr. Sayen summed up the want situation by saying, "We want 18-year olds to vote in all levels of government. We want 18-year olds in our party. We want them on our County Committee. We want them, as we want adults, to participate in all facets of the political system. In this way only can our total system be made to work responsibly."

FASHIONS FROM HAWAII
At YWCA Show. An exciting collection of spring and summer fashions from Honolulu and Florida, will be featured at the Hawaiian Fashion Show on Monday, March 22, at 12:30 at the YWCA.

Sponsored by the Finettes, the YWCA's Synchronized Swim Club, to raise funds for sports equipment, the affair will offer guests informal modeling in an island-style setting, refreshing Hawaiian drinks and an opportunity to purchase the fashions immediately following the show.

Tickets may be purchased at the YWCA office and nursery room will be available. Mrs. Mary Bartha is in charge of the event.

PEOPLE In The News

Jack W. Owen, 12 Lemore Circle, Rocky Hill, president of the New Jersey Hospital Association, Princeton, has been elected a member of the Board of Directors of the Hospital Bureau, Inc.

The Hospital Bureau serves to promote economic and efficient purchasing practices by hospitals and other health care institutions.

Mr. Owen has been active in the hospital field for more than 15 years. In addition to holding bachelor of science and bachelor of arts degrees, he received an M.B.A. in Hospital Administration from the University of Chicago.

Prior to his current position, Mr. Owen had been associated in executive capacities with the American Hospital Association. He has been active in the Middle Atlantic Health Congress and is currently convention manager of that association.

Technical Sergeant Henry Beaufort Jr., has received the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Bien Hoa AB, Vietnam.

Sergeant Beaufort distinguished himself by meritorious service as a recreation technician in the Department of Athletics at the U. S. Air Force Academy. He is now at Bien Hoa with a unit of the Pacific Air Forces.

His wife, Sarah, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Smith of 167 Washington Road, Princeton.

The bachelor of arts degree has been awarded to Charles R. Wisniewski of 133 Jefferson Rd. by the University of Colorado.

Gordon T. Washington, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Washington of 73 Columbia Avenue, Hopewell, has received his first U. S. Air Force duty assignment after completing basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. The airman has been assigned to a unit of the Aerospace Defense Command at Robins AFB, Ga., for training and duty in the transportation field.

Joan Sayers, 247 Elm Road, will perform the role of the narrator in Igor Stravinsky's rarely heard "Perséphone" with Eleazar de Carvalho and the Pro Arte Symphony, Sunday, March 21, at 8 p.m., in the C. W. Post Auditorium, Brookville, Long Island.

Miss Sayers is well remembered for creating the starring role of Eileen on Broadway in Mox Gordon's "My Sister Eileen." She last appeared in a French-speaking role at Columbia University's McMillin Theatre where she staged and acted in Jean Cocteau's "La Voix Humaine."

Born in Seattle, Miss Sayers studied for the theatre at the University of Washington and in Hollywood, where she made a number of films and was under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Miss Sayers has been an active officer and member of the board of the American National Theatre and Academy, was president of the Long Island Little Orchestra Society of a few years ago; and is a trustee of Hofstra University.

Appearing frequently on television, she has continued her career intermittently on the legitimate stage, playing in summer theatre and making special appearances in productions on Long Island and in New York City. Miss Sayers is married to Charles K. Agle, architect and city planner. They reside in Princeton.

Coast Guard Seaman Apprentice William S. Novobilsky, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Novobilsky, North Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell, has completed recruit training at the U. S. Coast Guard Training Center in Cape May.

Lee H. Bristol Jr. of Princeton has been elected a charter trustee of Hamilton College. Mr. Bristol is currently executive secretary of the Episcopal Church's Joint Commission on Church Music.

He is a 1945 graduate of Hamilton, with which his family has been associated for six generations.

Students from the Princeton area on college and school Dean List's include Brida S. Breeze, 195 Russell Road, at Ohio Wesleyan University; Richard F. Bales, Laurel Road, a Junior at Washington College; Andrew C. Armstrong, 95 Mercer Street, and Joy C. Loeber, 189 Carter Road, at Lafayette College; David D. Ingersoll, 133 Mt. Lucas Road, at Lehigh University; Eleanor Truesdell, 98 Graver Avenue, a senior at Franklin College; and C. Theodore Frisch, 80 Mercer Street, a sophomore at Denison University.

Navy Fireman James P. Schureman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Schureman, 169 Cedar Lane, is now serving aboard the nuclear attack aircraft carrier USS Enterprise, currently cruising around South America to Alameda, Calif.

ART In Princeton

MIXED MEDIA ON VIEW

Works by Mrs. Grace Kimble. The 1912 Room gallery of the Lambertville House is exhibiting oils, watercolors and mixed media of Mrs. Gerry Kimble. Mrs. Kimble, a native of Coral Gables, Florida, has lived in Princeton for the past 30 years. A diversified craftsman, she is proficient in oil painting, watercolors, painting porcelain jewelry and decoupage.

She has studied with Constance Bonotto, Samuel MacDowell and Paul McConoughy in oil techniques and with Ruth Ann MacPherson and Ramonah Byrd in watercolors. Her most recent one-man shows include The Munsell Gallery in Middlebury, The Nassau Savings and Loan in Princeton and The Millstone Gallery in East Millstone.

A recent graduate of the Patricia Nimrock Seminar for Instruction of Decoupage, Mrs. Kimble is presently teaching basic and advanced decoupage classes at the Pennington Artist Shack in Pennington. As a painter of porcelain jewelry, she has supplied craft shops throughout the U.S. for ten years.

She is a charter member of the Princeton Art Association and a member of the Rockport, Mass. Art Association and the Danish Handicraft Guild in Copenhagen. Several years ago she founded and presently owns the "Now & Then" Shop in Cranbury. She also founded the First Chapter of N.J. Guild of Decoupage Artisans. For two years she has taught occupation therapy, oil painting and crafts to patients of "Merwick."

Mrs. Kimble has selected mostly watercolors for her exhibit and many of the subjects are executed from local scenes.

Lambertville House art exhibits are open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Sundays to 9 p.m. Catalogs of the exhibits are available at the gallery or by mail on request.

fered this spring at the studios of The Artist Shack in the Pennington Shopping Village, Route 31, Pennington. Artists and artists-to-be who would like to be part of it are invited to write, visit or call The Artist Shack for course schedules and details.

Six week courses in Basic Decoupage will be given in two-hour morning, afternoon and evening sessions beginning the week of March 14 by Mrs. Gerry Kimble of Princeton and her staff, Mrs. Leslie Bird, Mrs. Mary Bernsmeier and Mrs. Shirley Anspae. A ten-week course in China Painting will begin Tuesday (evening) and Friday (morn) under the direction of Marilyn Wittingler.

Courses in Basic and Advanced Oil Painting are scheduled to begin in March and April. Among them are Joan Salsone's eight-week course of two and one half hour sessions which begins March 24; William Monaghan's 13-week course of two and one half-hour sessions scheduled for April 27, and a special 13-week course for young adults which Mr. Monaghan will begin April 17.

Each instructor is a professional artist whose classes are limited to ten students so that personal attention can be given to each individual's progress. Further information may be had from The Artist Shack, Pennington Shopping Village, Route 31, Pennington, N.J. 08534 (466-2616).

STONE AND ENAMEL
At Artisan. Whimsical stone ware figures of Rosemary Hay for are now on view at the Artisan Gallery, 39 Witherspoon Street. The gallery is open Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Thursdays from noon until 8. It is closed Mondays.

Sharing the gallery with Rosemary Taylor is Harold Helwig with a collection of enamel grisaille. His show will open this Saturday, and will continue through April 10.

Mr. Helwig has exhibited widely in the eastern states, particularly in New York. He is a member of New York State Craftsmen Inc. and of Buffalo Craftsmen, Inc. He exhibited last year in Ithaca with the York State Craftsmen.

Hill and Marvel
factions in Princeton. This kind of labeling misses the point completely. I am convinced that the community is virtually unanimous in seeking a progressive and innovative education for its children.

To accomplish this, we don't need spastic change, change for the sake of change. We need evolutionary changes that are sensitive to bona fide educational goals and to genuine needs and wishes of children and parents.

One basis for the current lack of community confidence in the schools is dissatisfaction with the current methods of change.

It has frequently been said that inadequate communication is the root cause of the confidence problem and to a great degree this is true; but it doesn't tell the whole story. Many people in the community are convinced that the goals and objectives for many of the recent educational and other changes have never been clearly defined.

Alternative program approaches, along with benefits and risks, apparently are not considered before changes are made. Consistent methods of evaluation are not established. (Evaluation and measurement have become provocative words.)

Communications? How do you have communication (and confidence) when very specific and fair questions of the community go unanswered. When the community has sought options or alternatives, there it was ignored. (See grades as well as, or in place of, comments on report cards in the Middle School.)

The issue has now become, for many, one of principle. We must insist that future programs be presented in businesslike fashions and given objective hearing and subjected to systematic evaluation.

The important thing is to make up your own mind. Attend the coffees and candlelight nights and find out for yourself. If you also feel the Princeton school climate must be improved, listen to Hill and Marvel and learn how they can help.

Please join me in two and one half weeks on March 30 and vote for George Hill and Bill Marvel.

Allen and Fitzgerald
and his wife are active in community and school affairs.

George Fitzgerald has a warm humanitarian concern, for individuals and families. He will be valuable in the difficult task of balancing program needs with financial resources. His wife teaches in a neighboring school district, as well as their having two children attending the Princeton schools, which contributes to increasing his understanding of the goals and process of education.

Let's tie the ABC's of education together; which I see as: an administration devoted to the task of education; a board that initiates sound business practices, and a community solidly supporting its schools. I hope when the polls are open between 5 and 9 p.m. on Tuesday, March 30, you too will give serious consideration to Mr. T. C. Allen and the Rev. C. George Fitzgerald as the Township's representatives to the Board of Education.

MUSIC In Princeton

MARLBORO COMING

For Concert Tuesday, "Music from Marlboro" will be the fourth concert in the University Music Department's Chamber Music Series. The concert is at 8:30 in 10 McCosh Hall. Five noted artists will take time from their other activities to participate in this performance. Pianist Craig Sheppard, violinist Isidore Cohen, violist Nobuko Imai, cellist Nathaniel Rosen, and clarinetist Richard Stoltzman will perform a program of chamber music masterworks rarely heard in live performances. The program will be Beethoven's "String Trio in C Minor, Opus 9, No. 3," and "Quatuor pour la fin du Temps" by Olivier Messiaen.

"Music from Marlboro" continues an extension of the Marlboro Festival's activities into the regular concert season. Understanding and mastery of the repertoire, rather than performance, are the primary goals at Marlboro, so the music is performed by the musician, is always the center of attention.

Approximately 80 pianists, string players, woodwind, brass performers and singers participate each summer. Fab to Casals has been at the Festival for ten summers since 1960 and has described it as a "temple of music."

Tickets are available at the Concert Office, Woolworth Center (924-9433) or at the door.

RECITAL FRIDAY

By Baritone and Pianist, Schubert's "Die Winterreise" will be presented by the Friends of Music on Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the Woolworth Center Rehearsal Room.

The song cycle will be performed by Fadlou Shehadi, baritone, and Mubidlo McKinnon, pianist. Both artists are Princeton residents. The concert will be open to the public, admission free.

STUDENTS PLAN CONCERT

For Sunday Afternoon, The Friends of Music at Princeton will present a student concert on Sunday at 3:30 in the Woolworth Center Rehearsal Room. Performers will be Elizabeth Grattelle-Strubel, soprano and David Shapiro. Their program will include songs by Bach, Mozart, Fauré, Schubert (including "Der Hirt auf dem Felsen"), three Michelangelo songs by Wolf and two duets. Accompanists will be Jane Strong, graduate student in the Music Department, and Frederic Merritt '74.

The concert is open to the public, admission free.

LECTURE SCHEDULED

On Monday, The Music Department of Princeton University will sponsor a lecture by Professor Daniel Heartz on "The Great Quartet in B-flat Major, Opus 132, by Beethoven: Glances of the Composer at Work." Professor Heartz is chairman of the Department of Music at the University of California, Berkeley. The lecture will be held at Room 110, Woolworth Center, next Thursday, March 18, at 4:40 p.m. It will be open to the public, admission free.

PHS CHOIR TO SING

At Choir College, The Princeton High School Choir, and William Trego's direction, will sing Maurice Durufle's "Requiem" on Friday, March 19, at 8 p.m. in the Westminster Choir College Chapel.

Mrs. Noncianne Parrella, organist, and members of the Princeton Orchestra will accompany the choir. John Bogard, a student at Princeton University, will sing the baritone solo.

"Completed in 1947," writes the composer, "my 'Requiem' is built entirely from the Gregorian themes of the Mass for the Dead. In general, I have attempted to penetrate to the essence of Gregorian style, and have tried to reconcile as far as possible the very flexible Gregorian rhythms." Although the composer uses Gregorian plain chant in the vocal parts of the composition, he also incorporates contemporary harmony in the orchestral arrangements.

The public is invited, admission free.

RECITAL SCHEDULED

By Westminster Pianist, Di-ane Rivera, young pianist on the faculty of Westminster Choir College, will give a recital on Tuesday evening, in the Woolworth Center Rehearsal Room. Performance is part of the 1974-75 Westminster Faculty Recital Series.

Miss Rivera, who joined the faculty last fall, will play three Intermezzi, Op. 117 by Brahms, Beethoven's Sonata in E-flat Major, Op. 81a "Les Adieux," Nocturne in F Major, Op. 15, No. 1 and Polonaise in F# minor, Op. 44, both by Chopin, and the Ravel Sonata. The recital is open to the public without charge.

INFORMAL CONCERT SET

By Folk Music Society. Folk singers David and Mimi Jones will appear in an informal concert on Friday at 8:30 p.m. at the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church. The concert is sponsored by the Princeton Folk Music Society. The Jones' sing both traditional and contemporary material, including some of their own compositions, and accompany themselves on guitar, 12 string guitar and Appalachian dulcimer.

On April 24, The Pennywhistlers will appear in a major concert presentation. The Pennywhistlers, a group of six American women, will present a program of songs from their family heritages in Eastern European and Jewish cultures, as well as many songs from English-speaking countries.

Admission for the David and Mimi Jones concert is $1.25 to the general public and $1 for students. For further information, contact Stu Berger, 59 Marion Road East, 924-2726.

AMATEURS TO MEET

Sunday at Unitarian Church. The next meeting of the Society of Musical Amateurs will be held on Sunday afternoon at the Unitarian Church.

The program will be Mozart's "Vesperae Solennes" conducted by Clyde Tipton. The soloists will be June Tipton, soprano; Mary Jane White, alto; Donald Ercoy, tenor; and John Woodard, bass.

VILLANOVA WINS IC4A
Meet a Major Success Here.
With a crowd of nearly 5,000 viewing Saturday afternoon's finals, Villanova won the indoor IC4A track meet for the fifth straight year. The Wildcats surprised even their coach, Jimmie Elliott, when they compiled 42 points—twice the total credited to runners up Pitt and Pennsylvania.

The fine facilities afforded by Jadwin Gym were a fortunate conclusion to make the meet a highly satisfactory occasion from the competitors' point of view. Jadwin has far more to offer than Madison Square Garden, its advantages ranging from a smooth, flat, eight-lap track to unlimited space and an absence of the thick smoke drifting down from the galleries that affected the runners' lungs.

In an era which finds college athletic budgets drowning in red ink, there was cause for cheer, too, over the attendance. Although advance reservations had been no more than 1,000, the gate sale proved highly rewarding. Saturday's attendance was as high as that for recent meets in the Garden, and there was no cut allowed to that voracious corporation. The meet is apparently to become a fixture here, a development that could permanently dispossess the basketball team from Jadwin in the final weekend of a tight by League race. Next year, the Tigers are scheduled to finish their season in New Haven and Providence, so that they will be playing their last games away from home two years running. That constitutes a policy change which may be hard to revoke if there is a constant conflict with the track meet.

Princeton's success was limited to a total of 9 points, which did, however, place the Tigers in a ninth place tie with Harvard among 32 colleges which scored a point or more. Numerous others sent representatives but did not register a point.

Bill Faucher was third in the long jump and seventh in the 60-yard hurdles. Joe O'Brien took a fourth in the 35-lb. weight throw and Bob Hoff did likewise in the pole vault, while the medley relay quartet was fourth in that event.

SKATERS FALL SHORT

OF Fans' All-Out Support.

One of the most unusual demonstrations of loyalty in Princeton University athletic history failed to transform the Princeton hockey team from a loser to a winner Saturday night and the Tigers went down to defeat for the 22d time this season.

The Daily Princetonian had rallied undergraduate support for the Tiger sextet with stories and pictures before Saturday's game with Dartmouth. Even the ads in Friday's issue were geared to cheering the team to victory in its final contest in Baker Rink, where it had never won once this winter.

A crowd of 2,200 about 1,000 more than turn out for many hockey games here — was on hand for the action, and the University Band made its first appearance in the rink in several years. Dartmouth appeared to fall into the role of the sacrificial victim when it skated onto the ice minus two of its top players who were automatically barred from the game when they were involved in a fight at Penn the night before.

The Tigers, too, took to their skates for the performance by scoring a pair of first-period goals while outshooting the visitors 16 to 10. Forward Vin Lynch got the first when he skated in on the Dartmouth cage alone after John McLean had laid the puck on his stick.

from just inside the blue line.

Power Play Works. The score came on a power play at 8:33, and less than ten minutes later, defenseman Art Schmon got another on a poke shot of a rebound. The puck barely crossed the Indian goal line, just crissed the goal mouth.

The visitors got one back when senior Jim Tiltmeyer drew a penalty, the first of three he was awarded during the evening, for over-aggressiveness. The first period ended with the Green trailing 2-1, but the Tigers lost the momentum in the next round, when Dartmouth drew even, and then — as they have so often this season — lost the game in the final 20 minutes.

the third period began and the puck was in the Princeton cage just six seconds after the face-off, on a slap shot from the blue line that evaded goalie Ed Swift. Less than half a minute later, the Indians scored again when so one in Orange and Black managed to cover a loose puck after a series of rebounds. A jab shot best Swift for the second time in 26 seconds and the Tigers were on their way to their 22nd loss in 23 games.

Tiltmore was sent to the box again with 1:57 left, but Princeton still managed to narrow the margin. John Hepburn's goal from close range made it 4-3 with 1:00 to go. Swift was replaced by a fifth skater on offense but the Cinderella story of scoring time while a man shot and then winning in overtime never did materialize.

Only Three to Graduate
Princeton loses only three seniors: Captain Tom MacMillan at defense, Tiltmore and another forward, Charlie Har-mar. A freshman team that showed unusual promise when it won in the same week over Brown and Harvard, but eventually was no better than 7-6-2 on the season, will join the varsity ranks.

On Balance, the squad will be deeper and somewhat stronger. The story, however, will be the same: to win, it will have to play far better defense and it will have to care enough about winning to play a whole lot closer to 60 minutes of hockey.

QUINTEL IMPRESSIVE
In Splitting Last Year's Only twice in 25 times this season did Princeton's basketball team win a game considered a loss-up whose outcome implemented the belief that it will be an Ivy contender next winter.

In mid-January, the Tigers look charge of Davidson, then leading the Southern Conference, winning in Jadwin Gym, 91 to 71. Five days later, following a rough overtime loss to Penn, Princeton left short of key victories. Last weekend, take-charge ability was so lacking that after losing again to a Columbia quintet that does not have a single player of above-average ability, it very nearly was upset at Ithaca by one of the worst Ivy League teams in memory.

Against Columbia, the Tigers could not handle a zone defense, trailed 30-21 at the half and were so cold in their shooting that for a period of ten and a half minutes, they did not make a field goal. Brian Taylor was held to 18 points before he fouled out; Bill Kapler made a rare appearance in double figures with 12 when he sank 8 of 10 free throws, but Captain Bill Slicker was held to three field goals.

The zone, which decreases contact when a team does not penetrate, really paid off for the Lions. Outshot from the floor, 24-20, they won because they drew 37 free throws as a result of Princeton's man-to-man defense, to 20 which the losers were awarded. Columbia made 31 foul shots to 14 for the Tigers, winning, 71-62.

Trail Cornell by 13. At Ithaca, the Tigers were in trouble because they would not play the kind of defensive ball that had been a major factor in the seven game February winning streak. Cornell, averaging 68 points a game and victor only five of 25 contests, was even with them at 42 all at the half and not long thereafter was up by 13.

Eventually, a press and ability to steal the ball a dozen times in the closing minutes brought the visitors a 79-78 lead with 3:30 to go. They remained in trouble, unable to put the contest away until sophomore guard Jim Sullivan converted both free throws on a one-and-one situation to give them an 87-84 lead with 29 seconds left. It was an 87-86 final.

Taylor hit for 26, 18 in the first half, but the big man of the night was Slicker as he brought a fine career to a close. He, too, scored 26 points, far and away his top total and in addition contributed 14 rebounds.

The slim victory gave the Orange and Black a 14-11 mark on the year, its poorest over all record in nine winters. For what it's worth in a changing pattern, it may be the first time in Ivy history that Harvard, a perennial have-not in basketball, finished ahead of the Tigers.

A Brief Look at Next Year. While it is wholly unlikely that the degree of domination that Penn has exerted over the league in the past two seasons will be continued, it is much less apparent that Princeton is about to move back into the role of a strong contender. There are a number of reasons, but the biggest is the graduation of Bill Slicker, the only player who could come close to holding this year's unpredictable squad together. Slicker played defense beautifully, hustled every minute he was on the court and often popped a key basket despite an average that was barely in double figures. He liked to play hard-nosed basketball and very few of those whom he leaves behind do.

This is particularly true of the freshmen, who won 11 of 17 but lost most of the games that got away from them in the closing minutes. At no time were they as impressive as the current sophomore crop, which was undefeated in 17 games a year ago, yet which had all sorts of problems converting to the varsity level this season.

more are figured to see considerable variety in action. Andy Rimel at 6:10 is being thought of about the lines of a Little T. Thomford but needs a considerable increase in aggressiveness under the boards before he will operate at maximum potential.

John Burger and John Sad Jones are a pair of 23 forwards who should give the returning veterans a run for their money. Rimel averaged 19 points a game, Burger 16 and Sad Jones 15.

In theory, there will be only one vacancy in the lineup which started this year until the 19-pointers, Bill Drake and Ted Manakos. Sickler is the only senior who had a regular job in fact, reserve Stanczak is the only other member of the Class of 1971 on the squad.

However, junior Al Duffy turned in a series of highly acceptable performances in replacement. He averaged 16.3 points a game, Drake 16.3 and Manakos 16.3. Duffy finished the season with 563 points, becoming the highest scoring sophomore since Bill Bradley, earning runner up honors in the Ivy scoring race with 341 to 364 for Paul Erland of Dartmouth.

REGIONAL FINALS HERE

In NCAA Wrestling, a two day wrestling tournament which will begin Friday afternoon and end around 11 Saturday night will be staged this weekend in Jadwin Gymnasium. Several thousand fans, many of them from Pennsylvania towns where the sport is enthusiastically supported, are expected to come here for the first District II NCAA Regionals.

Four mats will be going simultaneously during the early morning. Quarter finals will begin Friday night at 7, with semi-finals and consolation starting Saturday at 12:30.

Championship finals, as well as the last round of the consolation brackets, will begin at 7:30 Saturday night. Five wrestlers in each class will qualify for the 32 man bracket in each weight in the national championships to be held at Auburn, March 26-29.

As the Ivy League champion, Princeton will make a better than average showing but it is unlikely that the Tigers will finish first in any of the ten weights. Heavyweight Chuck Dressel reached the finals of the Easterns last weekend at Annapolis before having to Dave Jaron of Penn State, 6 to 1.

Paul Deliere, a top Princeton wrestler who wrestles at 190, is out for the season with a shoulder separation he incurred at Annapolis. A starting guard on the football team, he will in all probability undergo no operating in the near future. Princeton finished fifth at Annapolis with 30 points, trailing Penn State with 89, Navy, 85, Army and Lehigh. In addition to Dressel's high finish, the Tigers won consolation championships in two of the lighter weights.

The new qualifying proceed

3 Races, 3 Records

They wouldn't let her compete for the freshman team, but when she entered the Eastern Intercollegiate Women's Swimming Championships, Jane Fremon set a record in every event in which she swam.

A member of the Class of 1974 at Princeton, Miss Fremon took part in the title contest last weekend at Southern Connecticut. She won the 100 yard butterfly and was timed in 1:02.5. She swam the 100 and 200 yard freestyle races in 6:56.5 and 2:01.9. All three times were pool and Eastern Intercollegiate records.

Miss Fremon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fremon of 311 Western Way.

Use by NCAA districts was necessitated by a rapid growth of entries in the NCAA district meets. The Ivy colleges from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, involving some 200 competitors, will be entered. Penn State, Navy, Lock Haven and Clarion State head the list of hopeful entrants. The Nittany Lions and Middlebury are expected to be a regular presence in the 17 draw, while the latter two colleges represent about the line small college strength.

Tickets for all sessions or for individual sessions, both for reserved and general admission, may be purchased from the Princeton University Ticket Office in Jadwin Gymnasium prior to the tourney or at the door during the meet.

ROSSI IS OUSTED

In District Mat Finals, Lou John Rossi, Princeton High School heavyweight, wrestled and the school's best hope for a champion in the district matches held during the week end at Notre Dame High School, was eliminated in the final round.

Rossi lost, 6.5 to North Hunterdon's Carl Beemer. "It was a helluva bout; it could have been either way," commented PHS coach Tom Murray.

Despite his disappointment at Rossi's failure to survive the district, the advance to the finals of the regional matches last year as a junior, Murray pointed out that "it was the most points we have ever scored in the districts." PHS, which defeated every Mercer County school it faced this season, compiled 30 points for behind North Hunterdon, however, which finished with 101 and Hunterdon Central's 86. Between them, the two Hunterdon schools, swept every bout but the 138 pound class, where Evans' Non Bisson triumphed.

Rossi Falls Behind, 4-0. A giant Beemer, Rossi fell behind right away when Beemer got a take down and a pinning combination in the first period to take a 4-0 lead. "Rossi is not a good wrestler; he is a very delicate type and it makes it difficult for him to come back," said Murray. "We thought the best way for him to win was to get Beemer in a pin early in the match." Rossi did have his opponent on his back late in the second period but time ran out before he could pin him. "In the third period, he could turn him over," said Murray. Beemer, whose only loss was to Rossi in a dual meet in December, ended with a 12-11 mark. Rossi was 12-2.

Andy Polinsky PHS 98 pound cr. was the only other Little Tiger to reach the final round. He was then beaten, 4-2.

Three other Little Tigers finished third in the district, losing in the semi-finals. Chris Cassard, Wes McClain and Lawrence Parker. The latter lost, 2-1 to North Hunterdon's Ron Burton on a penalty point. Burton went on to win the finals in the 178 pound division, 9-3.

Murray will lose eight starts — two thirds of his team — through graduation. Departing in June are Rossi, Parker, John Hodges, captain Dave Macdonald, Tommy Evans, Larry Richey, Peter Hague and Cassard.

Returning will be Follins, Howie Hektor, Phil Ebersole and McClain. Two more who have had varsity experience are Lionel Hammond and Ken Deemer.

In addition, Murray has a pair of strong sophomores coming up over whom he is wrestling in anticipation. Mark their names well; wrestling buffs will hear a lot about them in the future.

One is Angelo Arcaro, who two weeks ago won the state 168 pound freshman crown from among 27 schools at Delaware Valley High School. He will probably wrestle 178 next year.

The other is Bobby Zinsmeister, whom Murray described "as good as anyone we have ever had." Strong praise for a freshman but Murray insists Zinsmeister can't miss. Rich and Warfield is another up from the jayvees.

"We'll win as many next year as we won this year," predicts Murray. "We'll be able to put a fairly good club on the floor."

Murray's optimism is based on the fact that Hektor will be the only senior on next year's team and it doesn't take high math to figure out what kind of contender PHS will be in the following years.

RECORD SALES LISTED
Applied Data Now in Black Record operating revenues for the fourth quarter of 1970 and for the year ended December 31 were reported this week by Applied Data Research, Inc., a computer software and service company with offices on State Road 206.

Operating revenues were $2,069,922 for the fourth quarter, compared with $1,495,274 for the corresponding period in 1969. Revenues for 1970 were $7,189,537, compared with $6,151,885 for 1969, a 17 percent increase.

In reporting operating revenues for the fourth quarter and the year, John R. Bennett, president, said that Applied Data Research has been operating profitably for the past six months. The company reported a loss of 37 cents a share for the first half of 1970 and a net gain of 14 cents for the last six of 1970.

The company reported a loss of $226,646 or 23 cents a share, compared with net earnings of $194,129 or 11 cents a share for 1969.

It was also reported that proprietary product sales were $3 million, compared with $2.8 million in 1969 and that marketing opportunities were increasing for proprietary products outside the United States, particularly Europe. Similarly, never proprietary products, such as Librarian, are contributing to both sales and earnings. Mr. Bennett noted that operating revenues for both the Professional Services and Control Systems Divisions also increased during 1970.

With Home Improvement Loans, Walter B. Foster, Jr., president of Nassau Savings and Loan, has announced that it is offering a choice of gifts to people who take advantage of the funds available now for home improvement. Loans to homeowners can consolidate their necessary repairs, improvements and additions into one budget-fitting loan of up to $7,500 with 60 months to repay.

"With spring fast approaching," Mr. Foster said, "right now is the ideal time for homeowners to check over their homes for needed repairs or improvements and come to Nassau Savings for a low-cost loan. Our specialists will give them sound advice and arrange budget-fitting terms, and we hope every one in the area will take advantage of funds we have available. As a special incentive, we're offering a choice of gift items for the home, including a Black & Decker 1 1/2" Drill Kit, Westinghouse Steam Iron and Westinghouse Clock Radio with each home improvement loan of $1,500 or more."

AGENCY NAMED

By New Princeton Firm, Research Parameters of 194 Nassau Street, a nationwide personal-interview research service, has announced the appointment of Bennett Robinson Inc., Princeton and New York, to create and implement its communications' programs.

Research Parameters provides parameters, every three months, for market researchers and others who need to know the attitudes and opinions of the US public on specific subjects. The first survey will be made next month.

The new company is headed by Ivan Wyden. It will use Response Analysis' national probability sample and interview operations group to supply coding and tabulating. Bennett Robinson Company is situated at 228 Alexander Street.

In Season Finale, "Playing Wisconsin last Wednesday was like a professional team and playing a regular season game will take advantage of funds we have available. As a special incentive, we're offering a choice of gift items for the home, including a Black & Decker 1 1/2" Drill Kit, Westinghouse Steam Iron and Westinghouse Clock Radio with each hased hockey club. The Panthers had gone all out in capturing their two day tournament the weekend before, winning two close games against Hill and Lawrenceville. When Wisconsin came along a couple of days later in the season finale, PDS could not get up for the game.

Earlier in the season, when they were struggling to stay above the .500 mark, the Blue and White had walked Wisconsin, 8-2, another reason why it was harder to be up for the return match.

Added to that was the loss of Tom O'Connor because of the death of a relative and Lucien Yokawa, who was sick. Freshman John Boyd was in the nets for the Panthers.

PDS hung on for the first period and even managed to grab a tentative 2-1 lead on goals by Buzz Woodworth and John Lockette. However, Wisconsin came on strong with four goals in the second period, while holding the Panthers scoreless. Each team scored one in the third period for a 3-3 final.

The team's 9-7 mark is not impressive, but it played well after its downfall at the Milton tournament, losing only four games, two by one goal O'Connor, Sam Rodgers and Rob Holt will graduate this year. All three will be missed especially O'Connor for his superbly consistent goal tend-

It's All Over
PHS Quiet Ends 3-21.
A bout the only thing that can be said about the 1970-71 Princeton High School basketball season is that it's now history and can be forgotten.

In dropping their final game of the season here Friday night, a Hopewell Valley, the Little Tigers ended with a 3-21 record. "I just wish we could have won some more," said PHS coach Larry Ivan.

The H-n-sweel game was typical of many of Princeton's this year. Tied with a minute to go, the home team lost out in the final seconds when Leon Robinson - wide open - hit a racy shot underneath that would have brought PHS back to within one. That was the key basket of the game," said Ivan. He also went on to win his second of the year over 40-40.

Tony Bailey and Kirt Bain both of whom will return next season, led PHS with 11 and 10 points. Robinson had seven. The lone offensive bright spot for PHS this year was the shooting of senior Billy Evans. B's poured in 308 points for a 13.9 average. He scored 21 and 20 points in his previous two games, he had only six against Hopewell in his low mark of the season.

MRS. CONSTABLE VICTOR
In National Squash Doubles Mrs. W. Pepper Constable of Rosedale Road is still winning squash titles.

The only woman to win five national singles champion titles, Mrs. Constable last week joined with Mrs. Margaret Scott Carroth of Greenwich, Conn. to win the Women's National Doubles Champion trophies in Squash Racquets at the Rockaway Hunt Club in Cedarhurst, L. I.

After losing the first two sets, 6-15, 8-15, Mrs. Constable and Mrs. Scott Carroth lost to the defeat Mrs. Lauren Manley Power and Miss Elizabeth Schriberger, both of Philadelphia. They swept the last three sets, 15-10, 15-6, 15-7. Mrs. Scott Carroth had won the ladies title previously.

By Gymnastic Team, The Princeton University men's gymnastic team will put on an exhibition at 2 p.m. Sunday on the balcony of Dillon Gym. The public is invited free of charge.

POLICE TEAMS TO PLAY
In March of Dimes Tournament, it's 2 up, 1 to go for the Borough in the seventh annual March of Dimes Police Tournament, which will be held for the first time in Princeton next Wednesday evening, March 17, at the PHS gym.

Princeton Pee-Wees Win

Princeton won the Charles R. Erdman Jr. trophy for the fourth year in a row at the Lawrenceville Pee-Wee Hockey Tournament on Jan. 10.

Tom Moore scored the winning goal on an assist from Steve Judas with nine seconds left to defeat Navesink, 2-1. Princeton had earlier wins over Delmont (3-2) and North Jersey (5-3), while Navesink had beaten Lawrenceville (5-2) and Nassau (6-0). Lawrenceville split 3-2 in overtime in Wiscasset in the Consolation Round. The 12 game tournament, a annual event, brings to her eight Pee-Wee teams from New York, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. A permanent trophy has been established in honor of Charles R. Erdman, Jr. a graduate of the Lawrenceville School and long time resident of Princeton.

The Township and Borough police will meet at 9 The PHS and Hamm on police all night off at 7 to start home night's affairs with the Lawrenceville police unit at 8.

Lawrenceville training has been almost most of the game. The Borough rallied in the final period to catch and then pass the squad, 30-15. Tom Michael and Robert W. Marchell combined to score 30 of the Borough's 40 points. That win, following a 34-20 trumps the year before, gives the Borough two in a row. An official victory would give a permanent possession of the March of Dimes trophy.

The Township was led last year by Dave Cronsey and Jerry Offredo. Between them, they accounted for all but eight of the hosts' points. Cronsey using his beef to score underneath, Offredo hitting from outside.

TOURNAMENT PLANNED

In Paddle Tennis, The Princeton Recreation Department will hold a men's paddle tennis tournament in the near future. Those interested should find a partner and sign up at the Community Court bulletin board.

Registration must be made by Tuesday. Court units will be notified through the mail as to schedule times, rules and opponents. For further information, call the Recreation office, 921-9480.

Township School Board Candidates Give Views

If all four Township School board candidates are united on anything, they are united in aversion to labels.

The four—T.C. Allen, George A. Hill, C. George Fitzgerald and William Marvel—sat down in the Littlebrook library last Wednesday with about 33 Township voters, and talked about themselves and the schools.

Later, Mr. Marvel issued the first in a series of formal weekly statements setting forth his views.

Wednesday evening, Mr. Fitzgerald brushed aside the "pro Administration" label that has sometimes been affixed to him, and said he was "open" in terms of the Administration. He deplored a campaign based on personalities because of the way it polarizes the community, he

Mr. Marvel, on his part, said he didn't like being measured by his views on a "non-elected individual"—presumably School Superintendent Philip E. McPherson. He said that he felt some responsibility because "of the reach I made at the time of the selection of the high school principal." Mr. Marvel had been regarded as "pro Administration," but stood against the Administration in selecting the principal.

"It's unfortunate to be labeled when you're trying to strengthen the system," observed Mr. Allen. "I am probably 'pro Administration' and I'm running to strengthen further an administration I believe is running in the proper way."

Mr. Hill added, "I am not, as I've been charged with being, a 'non-innovator.' To take an 'anti' stand, regardless of the situation, isn't rational."

I believe . . . Labels aside, the four candidates have ideas about what to propose if elected.

Mr. Allen proposes a "Performance Review System" for all teachers and administrators, not for salary purposes, weakness. On Wednesday night, Mr. Allen suggested this could be done even under the tenure system. "It would be a developmental, strengthening thing for each one," he said.

Mr. Hill proposes a Business Administrator for the school system to strengthen and streamline present business procedures.

Mr. Fitzgerald suspects that a lot of teachers slip through to tenure status "because we won't want to hurt anyone's feelings." He adds his apprehension that the schools lose a lot of good teachers to the frustration, where the money is.

He'd like a Differential Teaching Staff, which would offer a higher level of responsibility and therefore money to top-notch teachers. He said he realizes that teachers will never receive a merit pay system.

A Job for Professionals. Mr. Allen returned frequently during the evening to his belief that the board "should allow the educational professionals to run the school." The board has interfered in trying to become the administration," he declared.

A member of the audience at Littlebrook asked about evaluation. Mr. Marvel suggested that evaluation tends to extremes: "either measuring entirely in a quantitative way, or entirely in a subjective way." He read questions already posed by those who are formulating the proposed Experimental School and he said these are all right, but perhaps we should ask others, and he concluded, "There is no easy answer to evaluation."

Mr. Hill said that whoever proposes a project should outline its evaluation, asking what are the risks and alternatives?

Mr. Allen told the audience that teachers have a responsibility to show how programs could be evaluated, and Mr. Fitzgerald, shaking his head, said, "Evaluation is tricky; you can train kids like dogs to perform well on the Iowa Basic Skills test."

"Democratization" is sometimes seen as an issue in the election and all candidates met with students in a Princeton High Wednesday morning workshop.

"The term means that high school students should have access to some points of decision making," Mr. Fitzgerald suggested. "It's educational."

they have to live with the decision they've made."

Small Response. Mr. Hill told about a curriculum meeting to which PHS students were invited. This was announced in the public address system the day of the meeting. Mr. Hill reported, "and only 10 students showed up. Interested is limited."

"It just isn't true," Mr. Marvel conceded. "But all 1,600 kids at PHS are vibrating every minute with enthusiasm to participate. We only hear from the dissatisfied students."

In his formal statement, Mr. Hill returned again to the subject of myth, calling, "Our current mythology divides the town into two solid monolithic factions: the first is baying at the heels of the superintendent, intent on replacing him if they prevail. The second is pictured as a firm phalanx determined only to defend and support the superintendent, no matter what." The former are regarded as "conservative, if not indeed, authoritarian," the latter as "committed to innovation, progress."

Mr. Marvel says this doesn't correspond to reality. As a board member, he says he has sometimes agreed with the superintendent's proposals and has sometimes opposed them.

On still other occasions, Mr. Marvel wished there were proposals to react to. When there were none? He also protests that the ideas and experience of the candidates should be the issue, not the superintendent.

He points to his own career as the lone Democrat on Township Committee and says, "It is a matter of wry amusement to learn that others are now plumping me down firmly in the 'conservative camp'."

Regarding polarization, Mr. Marvel says, "So long as CARES and the Committee for Princeton Schools both continue to be hospitable to divergent viewpoints and do not harden into doctrinaire positions, there is no reason that this should lead to greater polarization."

The two groups, he says, give the voters a recognizable choice between "different emphases and major tendencies" on fundamental educational issues.

The candidate says he sees two specific areas of concern: leadership and democratization in the system, and the relationship of board and superintendent.

8 p.m. Thursday, March 18, in Community Park School. The fields of housing, employment, public accommodation and police-community relations will be discussed. The commission hopes that the meeting will serve as a forum for those who feel the Commission might investigate problems of discrimination in other areas than those already being dealt with. Questions from the audience will be welcome.

GOURMET LUNCHEON SET

And Fashion Show, Too. The third annual Gourmet Luncheon and International Fashion show will be staged at the YWCA on Thursday, March 26, at 12-30. Sponsored by the YW's membership committee, the affair will benefit the Pearl Bates Scholarship Fund, which provides money for girls and women to participate in YWCA classes, clubs and camps.

Luncheon guests will be treated to more than 100 varied delicacies ranging from unusual entrées to tasty desserts. All recipes will be featured in the third annual Gourmet Cookbook which will be available for purchase at the luncheon.

Reservations are requested by March 18; nursery care will be available.

SKATING PARTY PLANNED

To Benefit Boys' Baseball. A skating party for the benefit of the Montgomery Township Boys' Baseball League will be held from 8 p.m. Sunday, at the Princeton Day School rink.

Admission will be $1 for adults, 75c for students, and free for children under 5. Tickets may be purchased by calling Mrs. William Miller, 359-3056, or Mrs. Edward Dobkowski, 463-3177. Refreshments will be available at the rink.

18-YEAR OLD VOTE TOPIC
Of Friends' Forum Sunday, the ramifications of the 18-year old vote, (just confirmed by the Supreme Court for Federal election) and the relationship with bodies and money for the war will be the topics for discussion at the Princeton Friends Peace Action Forum to be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Jim Lafferty, a student at Princeton High School; John Pavers, currently enrolled at Princeton University; and Jeff Davis, from UNDO, a Princeton-based anti-war group, will take part in the panel discussion with T. J. Johnston, from the Lawrenceville School, acting as moderator.

The Forum will be held at Princeton Friends Meeting House on Mercer and Quaker Bridge Roads. Boxes will be available from the University Store parking lot at 7:10 and all interested are urged to attend.

FIVE UNITS NAMED

By Trinity Church. The members of Trinity Church and All Saints Chapel expected this spring, the Trinity Church committee has been divided into five major areas of responsibility. The Rev. Canon James R. Whittmore, rector, has announced. The standing committees are headed by members of the Trinity Church community with authority to develop their own programs and projected budget needs.

The chairmen and Trinity staff assignments for worship and music, Douglas O. McCloire, chairman, and James Linton, staff, and the parish life, John V. Fleming, chairman, and the Rev. Joseph S. Harris, Christian action board and ecumenical affairs, Leighton H. Laughlin, chairman, and the Rev. E. John Gwynn, pastoral care and lay visitation, Mrs. Robert Shaw, chairman, and the Rev. E. John Gwynn, finance and property, Christopher R. P. Rodgers, chairman, and Canon Whitmore.

BAPTISTS REORGANIZE

Merced Churches are linked in the first major reorganization in more than 60 years, the New Jersey Baptist Convention last week changed its name to the American Baptist Churches of New Jersey and reorganized its member churches into areas and clusters.

The Rev. Kenneth S. Dan, minister of Christ Church, Walnut Lane, was named temporary chairman of the Capitol Cluster, which includes the Mercer County churches. Former president of the N.J.B.C., he served on the study committee which recommended two years drafting proposals for reorganization.

The state-wide group is divided into two areas, North

Preaching Series Set

Bishop M. Mathis of San Jose, Calif., will lead ecumenical services next week at Morning Star Church. God in Christ, 43 1/2 Birch Avenue, Elder C. Guidry, pastor, has announced. He will preach at 8 p.m. daily, Monday through Tuesday, March 22. The services are open to all.

And South, each with five churches of congregation. The first meeting of the Capitol Cluster will be held on April 18 at First Baptist Church, Princeton.

TO HOLD CONCERT

At All Saints' Chapel. A program of Renaissance and Baroque vocal music will be given at 7:30 on Sunday in All Saints' Chapel, Van Dyke Road.

Soprano Susan Robinson will be accompanied by Willie Ann on recorder and Edith Reiche, harpsichord. The program includes works by Arcangelo Corelli, Purcell and Handel.

Miss Robinson has been soloist with the Princeton Symphony and the Princeton Chamber Orchestra. A graduate of Princeton High School, she has studied at Westminster College and the University of Pennsylvania.

DR. WESTLUND TO PREACH

At Council Installation: The Rev. Dr. Virgil Westlund, secretary of the National Lutheran Council for Worldwide Theological Cooperation, will be the guest preacher at the 10 a.m. service this Sunday of Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, Princeton Junction. During the service, held in the Maurice Hawk School, Clarksville Road, the 1971 Church Council will be installed by the Rev. Dr. Herik Anderson, vice pastor of the church.

Members to be installed are Mrs. Carl Ruessler, Mrs. Ross Wilbur, Mrs. Patricia Bruckner, James Gunkel, Ron Joss, Bert Midland, Jay Sexton, James Swartz, and William T. Foxworth. Also, Francis Meier, church secretary, and George Alldridge, financial secretary.

Sunday School is held at 11 a.m. Dr. Anderson is also conducting a class at 11 to acquaint prospective members with the basic teachings of the Lutheran Church. Further information is available from Bert Midland, 799 142nd.

BULLETIN NOTES

He was an attorney with the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs and a member of the Unitarian Church of Princeton.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Rebecca K. Copplinger, his parents, and Mrs. Charles A. Copplinger of Belle Mead, and one brother, Charles D. Copplinger of Belle Mead. A private service was held with interment in Oakwood Cemetery, Mount Kisco, N. Y. Arrangements were made by the Mather Funeral Home. Memorial gifts may be made to UNICEF.

William W. Hepburn, 31, died March 2 at his home at 211 North Main Street, Pennington.

A native of Brooklyn N. Y., Mr. Hepburn was a member of the American Game Batism Association and was internationally known for his birds, winners of many trophies at Madison Square Garden and numerous first prizes at other large poultry exhibits. He lived in Pennington for 30 years.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Isidore Farrington of Princeton, Mrs. Madeline Kister of Chicago, Mrs. Ruth Protheroe of Beverly, Mrs. Kathryn Hixon of Hopewell, and Mrs. Edith Peters of 1110 N. Y. five sons, Rodman of Columbus, Keene of Haymarket, Va., Courtney of Browns Mills, James G. of Sussex, England, and David M. of Pennington. He was the husband of the late Ethel Hepburn.

The service and interment were private. The Blackwell Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Elsa E. Knight, 71, of Reed Road, Pennington, died March 6 in Mercer Hospital. She was the widow of Harry Knight.

who came along the Appala chian Trail last summer, will give an illustrated talk, "My Farm On The Donkey," at 7:30 p.m. family night gathering on Monday at Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane.

Dr. Donald R. Young, director of the Marriage and Family Counseling Division of the Institute of Religion at Houston, Tex., Medical Center, will lead a seminar this week at the Princeton Seminary Center of Continuing Education. His topic is "Pastoral Care and Counseling Marriage." Discussions will be held Monday through Thursday. Interested clergymen should contact Dr. Jack Cooper, director of the Center.

"Beep Beep Superstar" is the title of the sermon to be given by the Rev. W. Clyde Williams at 11 a.m. Sunday in the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church. Dr. Williams is associate general secretary of the Consultation on Church Union, the organization that is endeavoring to unify nine Protestant denominations.

A ham and chicken dinner is set for this Saturday at the Morning Star Church of God in Christ, 43 1/2 Birch Avenue, from noon until 6 p.m. Donations are $2. Reservations or take out dinners may be made by calling 924 5478 or 924 5454. The Rev. C. Guidry is pastor.

Born in State Island, Mrs. Knight lived in New Jersey for 25 years. Surviving is a sister, Mrs. William Star of Watertown, Minn.

The service will be held at 10 a.m. this Thursday in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Edward Sykes officiating. Interment will be in Moravian Cemetery, State Island. Calling hours were scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesday at the Wilson Funeral Home, Pennington Circle.

Duraud W. Robertson, 84, of 34 Higgins Street, died March 6 in the Merwick unit of Princeton Hospital. He was retired general manager of the Titanium Division of National Lead Company of New York. A graduate of the North Carolina State University in 1907, he was employed by Riggs National Bank in Washington, D.C., until World War I. He served in the Army Expeditionary Force.

An industrial chemist, Mr. Robertson founded the Armor Shield Paint Corporation. When this venture failed, he joined the sales staff of the Titanium Pigment Corp., which later came under the control of National Lead. He retired in 1950.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. June R. Montague of Millington, a son, Durant Jr. of Princeton, three grandchildren and a sister, Pearl S. Robertson, of Princeton.

Elton A. Robbins Sr., 77, of Shalks Road, Plainsboro, died March 6 in Princeton Hospital. He was a farmer and had been employed as a guard at the Princeton State Prison.

Mr. Robbins was a native of Hightstown and lived in the Plainsboro South Brunswick area most of his life. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Marie B. Robbins; two sons, Elton A. Jr. of Sand Hill and James S. of Monmouth Junction; five grandchildren, one great granddaughter and a daughter, Mrs. Georgianna Barlow of New Brunswick.

A private service was held, with cremation following. Memorial gifts may be made to the American Cancer Society.

John S. Blackwell, 86, of 3 Lawyers' Lane, Hopewell, died March 9 in the Foot Hills Acres Nursing Home, Neshaun. He formerly operated a garage in Hopewell.

Born in Skillman, a son of a Hopewell resident for 60 years, Mr. Blackwell was an exempt member of the Hopewell Fire Department, and a member of Hopewell Lodge 135, F&AM, and of Scottish Rite and Crescent Temple of Trenton. Two daughters survive him: Mrs. George Voorhees of Hopewell and Mrs. Robert Chatter of Pennington; also a sister, Mrs. William Sked of Hopewell; three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The service will be held at 11 this Thursday in the Cromwell Memorial Home, 71 East Prospect Street, Hopewell, with interment in Highland Cemetery.

BE YOUR OWN BOSS. At the moment we have a particularly varied and interesting selection of businesses for sale in the vicinity. Prices vary too.

IF YOU DON'T WANT TO OWN YOUR OWN
HOUSE, the above holds true for house rentals, except, unfortunately, for the last sentence. None of them are in the lower price brackets.

HILLTOP HIDEAWAY. There's no reason for this striking contemporary to hide its handsome face from ad-seancing househunters, so in this drawing we've removed most of the trees that actually help make it a hideaway. That was easy; what's not so easy is doing the house justice verbally; so we'll cover the basics, then move on to the attempt. The location is pleasant — Township, convenient but quite secluded. The living space includes: living room with fireplace, dining room, modern kitchen (opening on a small greenhouse), two bedrooms (master with fireplace), study, 2½ baths. It is essentially a small house though it doesn't feel like one.

As for details, we can say, quite simply and sincerely,
we love the house. Imaginative design, particularly in special relationships, and creative interior use of wood, glass and stone are outstanding.
Artistic landscaping complements nature's own contributions: towering pines, smaller evergreens, dogwood, attractive cypresses. Everything everywhere in this genuine gem of a house is it's perfect taste.
$79,500

132 ELM ROAD. If you don't know this quite special Princeton property, go look at it; if you can resist going to know it better, we'll be most surprised. We'll also be delighted to introduce you if you are in the need of a gracious, roomy town estate which has, for a sporting family, the added attractions of tennis, and squash courts, swimming pool and three nice acres.

Our cooperative listing service offers a wide variety of Princeton area properties & prices.

WIDE OPEN SPACES and SNUG COZINESS don't usually go hand in hand, but somehow this property manages to put it all together. In fact, it seems to specialize in creating illusions. The sweeping, almost two acres appears more than that, the brick and shingle, solid looks like a rambling ranch house; and the wide open setting actually provides a great deal of privacy, especially in the spacious, well-landscaped fenced pool and terrace area. The interior is enhanced by such touches as a wide, raised-hearth, paneled fireplace, set back between bookshelves; dining room bow window and built-in corner cupboards; handsome flagstone entrance hall.

VITAL STATISTICS: large dropped living room, dining room, well-planned kitchen/breakfast/lavatory, big paneled family room with walk-in equipped bar, 4 or 5 good bedrooms (depending on use of a paneled library); 2½ baths, closets galore, screened porch, 2 car garage, fenced breezeway for canine would-be wanderers, pleasant Lawrenceville location. $75,000

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE: we sold this house, or rather it sold itself, to its present owners, who are now retiring out of state and who were then died-in-the-wool, not-to-be-uprooted Princetonians!
